JOSEPH M. HEPP DIES ENROUTE TO HOSPITAL

Cleveland Broker, Associated with Two Marion Concerns, Victim

COMPANION UNINJURED

Car Turns Over Several Times After Colliding Twice with Another Auto

Joseph M. Hepp, 35, Cleveland, owner of the Marion Sandwich Shop, W. Center-st, part owner of the local Studebaker automobile agency and broker for the Suburban Light & Power Co., Cleveland, is dead today, the victim of an automobile crash five miles north of the city on the Marion-Bucyrus-pk at 6:30 o'clock last night.

His companion, said by Bucyrus officers of the Suburban Light and Power Co. to have been Miss Elizabeth Kearney, Cleveland, escaped serious injury. She boarded a train for home after the accident.

Hepp, who was returning to Cleveland with the girl following a short visit here, sustained a broken neck and a fractured skull. He died enroute to City Hospital in the H. Schaffner Co. ambulance.

Hits Other Car

The accident occurred when the Hepp car which witnesses say was driven by the girl, crashed into the rear of the Nash sedan driven by Mrs. H. E. Moore and occupied by Arthur Gleason and Miss Lelia Peppert, all of South Amherst, O.

After striking the Moore car the Hepp machine, witnesses of the accident told Sheriff James A. Deal, swerved to the left ditch. Then the driver in attempting to pull it back into the road turned the car into the opposite bank across the patch of the Moore machine. When the Hepp machine hit the opposite bank its momentum caused it to rebound into the road, striking the Moore car for the

OHIO KIWANIANS OPEN COLUMBUS CONVENTION

Governor's Dinner and Ball Scheduled on Tonight's Program; Close Wednesday

Columbus, Sept. 21—With all the pomp and splendor of the courts of rulers and potentates, two thousand Ohio Kiwanians and their wives opened their ninth annual convention here today.

One hundred and twenty cities throughout Ohio were represented as the affair got under way, and it gave promise of being the greatest ever held in Ohio.

The convention proper opened at 8:45 this morning with W. G. Hyde, Ohio district governor of Chillicothe, presiding. Clyde W. Stouch, Steubenville, led the opening songfest. Rev. William G. Sodt, Alpena, Mich., immediate past lieutenant governor of division five, asked the invocation. Prior to the formal meeting there were breakfast luncheons for club presidents, club secretaries, club trustees and club song leaders.

Mayor J. J. Thomas, Columbus, Governor Vic Donahey and H. S Kerr, representing the inter-club council of service clubs, extended welcomes.

Tonight there will be the governor's dinner and the governor's ball.

Wednesday morning will see more divisional breakfasts, and then a big business session with talks. Election of officers and the selection of the next convention city will conclude the convention.

ALL RESOURCES OFFERED TO FIGHT EPIDEMIC

Washington, Sept. 21—All resources of the public health service will be offered to combat spread of the epidemic which was reported to have broken out in the wake of the Florida storm, Surgeon General Hugh S. Cummings announced today.

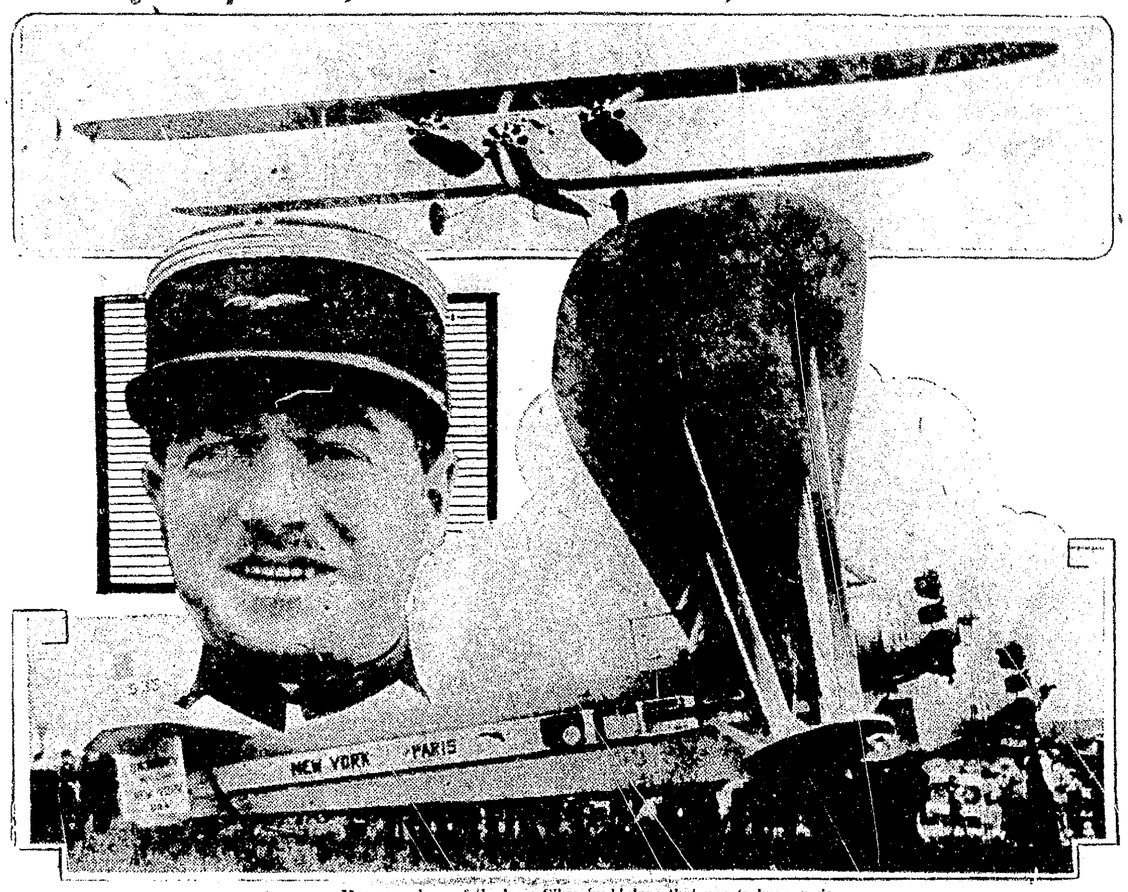
Dr. J. H. Linson has been sent to Florida, and all health officials in the stricken state have been instructed to take every precaution against an epidemic, he said. Serum and supplies are being held in readiness for use by the Red Cross if needed.

JESSE E. LADOW, MANSFIELD ATTORNEY, IS DISBARRED

Cleveland, Sept. 21—Jesse E. Ladow, Mansfield, Ohio, attorney, now serving a workhouse sentence at Dayton in connection with the Kirby jury fixing scandal, today was disbarred from practice by United States Federal Judge John M. Killits.

Ladow pleaded guilty to participation in the conspiracy to influence a jury during the trial of Josiah Kirby and his Cleveland Discount Co., which was accused of a $30,000,000 mail order fraud. The attorney was a member of Kirby's legal staff.

Sikorsky Biplane, Its Commander, and Two Victims



Here are views of the huge Sikorsky biplane that was to have made a New York-to-Paris flight, together with Captain Rene Fonck, the pilot (inset), and Charles Clavier, French navy veteran (left) and Jacob Islinoff, Russian World War veteran (right) who were fatally burned when the big ship burst into flames at the hop-off.

LATE J. T. KING SERVED SUISSE INTEREST—DULLES

Former Attorney for Merton Says He "Retained" Politician for $441,000

New York, Sept. 21—John F. Dulles, former attorney for Richard Merton, German financier, testified today at the trial of Harry M. Daugherty, former attorney general, and Thomas W. Miller, former alien property custodian, charged with conspiracy in connection with the return of $7,000,000 in war claims, that of the late John T. King, Connecticut politician, superseded him as the representative of Merton in matters having to do with the claim for the seized alien property.

Dulles told of a trip he made to Washington to see government officials to learn the attitude of the government regarding the claim of the Society Suisse Pour Valeurs des Meteaux. It was this company's property that Merton came to the United States in 1921 to see if he could have it returned. Merton was successful.

The witness testified he was told the government would not pass a claim such as was being made to the Society Suisse.

Merton testified on the stand last week that he "retained" King and paid him $441,000 for putting through the claim.

HOWZE FUNERAL TO BE HELD FROM LATE HOME

Columbus, Sept. 21—Private military funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon from the commandant's residence at Fort Hayes here for Major General Robert Lee Howze, fifth corps area, U. S. army commander, who died suddenly.

The body will be taken to West Point where General Howze was formerly commandant, for interment, accompanied by a guard from the post here.

Sikorsky Biplane Bursts In Flames On Hop-off; Two of Crew Fatally Burned

Capt. Rene Fonck and Lieut. Lawrence W. Curtin Escape But Wireless Operator and Mechanic Lose Lives; Breaking of Auxiliary Landing Gear Contributing Factor

Roosevelt Field, N. Y., Sept. 21—Capt. Rene Fonck's proposed non-stop flight to Paris ended in grim tragedy early today when the giant Sikorsky biplane in which the flight was to have been made burst into flames at the hop-off, causing two fatalities.

Captain Fonck and his co-pilot, Lieut. Lawrence W. Curtin, U. S. N., escaped with their lives, but Charles Clavier, wireless operator, and Jack Islamoff, mechanic, were fatally burned in the fuselage.

Fonck and Curtin, sitting at the controls in the nose of the plane, were saved when the ship, failing to clear the ground after scooting a mile along the runway, fell into a deep gulley. They crawled from the plane.

Clavier and Islamoff, however, were trapped in the burning plane.

The dapper French captain, hero of countless exploits in the World War, leaped into the plane shortly after 6 o'clock. He went down the field in a cloud of dust, followed by spectators in automobiles. The great plane, heavily loaded with more than 2900 gallons of gasoline, disappeared over the brow of a little hill, descending into a 20-foot gulley. An instant later there was a puff and an explosion and a sheet of flame shot up 40 feet into the air, 20 feet above the top of the depression into which the great biplane had descended. Nearly a thousand spectators at the field were horror-stricken.

There was a cheer, however, when Fonck and Curtin were found safe after having been thrown clear of the burning plane. Fonck and Curtin were able to walk to an automobile, which, it is believed, took them to the home of F. R. Mayer in Hewlett, L. I., where they had spent the night.

Fire engines from the nearby towns of Hempstead and Mineola arrived in record-breaking time, followed a moment later by an ambulance from Mitchell Field. There was little that either doctors or firemen could do. Great clouds of white smoke shot into the air a distance of 40 feet, with underlying sheets of flame as the gasoline-drenched ground continued to burn. Two airplanes circled overhead, taking motion pictures of the fire, which will burn for hours.

Weighed 28,860 Pounds

From a hasty survey of the runway on which the plane had attempted to make its hop to Paris, it is believed that a contributing factor in the accident was the breaking of the auxiliary landing gear. This gear, which was designed to help the machine carry the tremendous load of more than 13,000

VIOLENT STORMS SWEEP EAST OUT OF DAKOTAS

United States Weather Bureau Issues Warnings To Entire Mid-West

Chicago, Sept. 21—Storm warnings for the entire mid-west were broadcast from the United States Weather Bureau here today as violent wind and electrical disturbances swept eastward out of the Dakotas.

The barometers in the storm area have fallen half an inch in the last 12 hours and now are at a lower point than that reached in Florida during the hurricane the weather bureau declared.

WORLD COURT PROPOSAL NOT ACCEPTABLE TO U. S.

Five Senate Reservations Must Stand, Coolidge Spokesman Announces

Washington, Sept. 21 — The terms laid down by the powers at Geneva by which the United States may come into the World Court are not acceptable to the government, it was learned today.

The White House spokesman reiterated today that the American reservations are perfectly clear and that this government will not sanction any amendments or interpretations by foreign powers. If the United States is accepted by the court, it must be accepted under the conditions laid down in the five senate reservations, the presidential spokesman declared.

The hitch is over the much-discussed fifth senate reservation which provides that the court may not render an advisory opinion on any question in which the United States has an interest, "or claims an interest," without the specific

AMERICA ANSWERS COOLIDGE APPEAL

Washington, Sept. 21—The nation has responded generously to President Coolidge's appeal for funds for relief of Florida hurricane sufferers, the Red Cross announced today.

Within 24 hours, the Red Cross, in charge of relief work, has procured donations totalling $743,343.93.

RED CROSS HERE MAKES PLEA FOR FLORIDA RELIEF

Funds for Stricken Area Now Being Received at All Marion Banks

In response to a message from national headquarters of the American Red Cross, requesting the Marion organization to proceed promptly with collection of funds for the Florida storm district, the disaster relief committee of the local chapter met this morning and issued an appeal for citizens to respond liberally and to make donations without waiting for personal solicitation.

All banks of the city have consented to receive and account for such funds and it is reported that a number of contributions have already been made at these collection points.

The committee also decided to urge local lodges to make subscriptions and all churches will be asked to take a special collection next Sunday morning.

Members of the disaster relief committee are C. C. Fisher, chairman, J. F. Prendergast, M. C. McNeil, Edmond P. Keller, Mrs. Henry B. Hane, Mrs. D. W. Evans and Mrs. R. T. Lewis.

Miss Nina Doughty, secretary of the local Red Cross chapter, is assisting in executive work connected with the collection of funds.

BURKE ASKS KNIGHT TO JOIN PRIMARY DEFENSE

Wants Former Congressman To Send Request to Secretary of State Brown

Cleveland, Sept. 21—An appeal to C. L. Knight, of Akron, former congressman and chairman of the committee seeking to submit the question of abolition of the primary election system to a referendum vote in the November election in Ohio, to join with the defenders of the primary system in an appeal to the secretary of state, not to submit the question, was issued by J. F. Burke, of Elyria, here today.

Former Senator Burke is chairman of the Ohio Primary Defense League.

Repeating his charges that forgeries and frauds appear in the referendum petitions submitted to the secretary of state, Burke urged Knight to "join us in requesting the secretary of state not to put his referendum upo nthe ballot."

"You, of course, know that this must be done within the next 36 hours," Burke's telegram concluded, after declaring that there was insufficient time to submit evidence to a court.

STATE UNABLE TO ASCERTAIN TOTAL DAMAGE

Hurricane To Go Down in History as One of Nation's Worst Catastrophes

DEAD WILL TOTAL 500

Property Damage in Miami Estimated at $125,000,000 by Official

FLORIDA, digging herself out of the ruins, surveying her wounds and burying her dead—the gulf coast, hard hit and still staggering, unable as yet definitely to ascertain the damage wrought.

This was the situation this morning, almost 72 hours after the West Indian hurricane hurled itself out of tropical seas and crashed with a deafening roar and sickening crash upon America's winter playground.

The extent of the damage wrought by the 100-mile gales and heavy seas thrown boldly into unprotected communities can only be approximated. It is heavy enough, both in lives and property, so that the hurricane will go down in history as one of the most terrible catastrophies ever visited upon the nation but it will probably be days before an accurate estimate can be made.

Relief Work Under Way

Out of the confusion of wrecked cities, interrupted communication and impassable roads, however, there was emerging this morning some slight semblance of order. Relief work was getting under way with a degree of system, communication with communities cut off from the outside world since the fury broke was slowly being established and every incoming dispatch from the stricken area told of the determination of the sufferers to build anew what has been destroyed.

As order emerged out of chaos the toll of human life taken by this grisly freak of nature appeared to diminish. Whereas some estimates on Sunday and Monday had placed the dead as high as 2,000, today's dispatches brought this figure down materially. It is now reported to be doubtful if the death list runs above 500—a grim enough toll, but still greatly below the original estimates.

But as the damage to human life diminished with the restoration of order and communication, the material toll appeared to mount higher. The damage to property has been terrific and widespread.

Miami Heavy Sufferer

In Miami alone, the city manager has estimated the destruction to property at $125,000,000, and Miami was only one of the Eden like winter playgrounds strung jewel like along the south Florida coast which lay directly in the pathway of the freakish and devastating wind.

Other noted and costly resorts—Hollywood, Coral Gables, Delray, Homestead, Miami Beach and the resorts further inland around Lake Okeechobee suffered tremendously. In Moorehaven alone, the death list is estimated at 60.

Strenuous efforts were being made today to re establish communication with Pensacola, on the gulf coast. The powerful naval radio station there has been silent since a final message yesterday which said the wind was attaining a velocity of 100 miles an hour and was causing heavy damage.

It is not believed, however, that the gulf coast resorts have suffered any-

ATTACHES AT AMERICAN EMBASSY IN AIR CRASH

Croyden, England, Sept. 21—Major Clarence Tinker, of Oklahoma, and Commander Robert Burg, of Nebraska, both attached to the American embassy in London, were severely injured today when an airplane in which they were flying here crashed. The plane burst into flames when it hit the ground and both men were badly burned.

FORMER CIVIL WAR VETERANS TO MEET

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 21.—With the deep wounds of war healed over by the magic balm of time, the two commanders of those who wore the grey and of those who wore the Blue will meet and clasp hands here September 13.

The State Convention of the American Legion will be held here September 13-14 and Gen. M. D. Vance, national commander of the United Confederate Veterans, has signified acceptance of an invitations to be present. Here he will meet Capt. John B. Inman, this city, national commander of the Grand Army of the Republic.

The meeting will be the first of the two commanders.

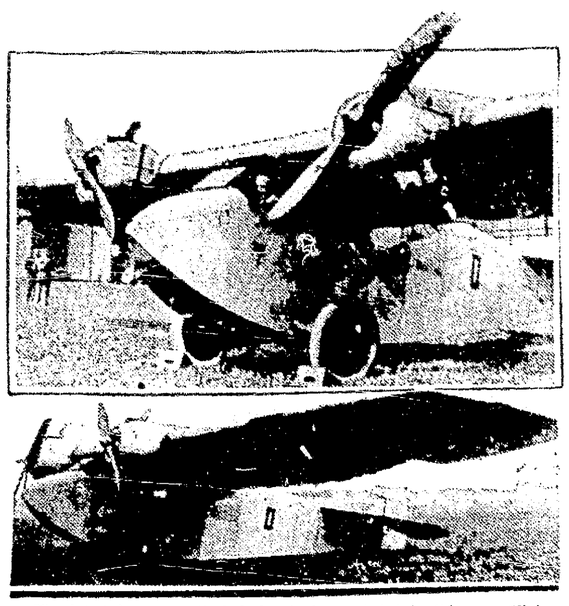
THE "FLYING PULLMAN"



The latest in aeronautical design is incorporated in this new "flying Pullman" which has just gone into service between Berlin and other European capitals. The plane, a Junker, has sleeping quarters for three as well as luxurious daytime accommodations for a number of passengers. Note the ingenious installation of the motors in the wing stream line, shown in the two views of the new plane.

Erie Plan of Transporting Employes During 1927 Is Announced By Bulletins

All Persons in Service of Company Continuously for 20 Years Entitled To Transportation for Themselves, Wives and Dependent Children, Notices Reveal

Bulletins announcing the Erie plan of providing annual transportation for its employes during 1927 have been posted in local yards and offices.

All employes who have been in the service of the Erie Railroad Co. continuously for 20 years or more are entitled to annual transportation for themselves, their wives, and their dependant minor children, during the year 1927, according to the bulletins.

Engineers and conductors who have served as such on the Erie Railroad for 15 years, continuous service, are entitled to annual transportation for themselves and their wives. Dependant children do not come under this provision.

Trainmen, firemen, and other railroaders are not included in the 15 year limit.

All those who come under any of the provisions mentioned in the bulletins are to notify the office of A. L. Kline immediately, giving their name and names of their children. The names will be placed on record and annual transportation will be provided.

Those who have been receiving transportation during the last year are not required to again register, according to the announcements.

Rail Head Here

President W. J. Harrahan of the Hocking Valley Railroad Co., passed through Marion yesterday afternoon in a special car attached to a special train. Mr. Harrahan was making a trip from Columbus to Fostoria.

Makes Record

Toledo Division of the Pennsylvania Railroad, of which Marion is a part, was one of the five divisions of the Penasy to make 100 per cent in "on time" records during August, according to a report received here today.

Entertainers

The Pennsylvania Entertainers are scheduled for their regular weekly appearance at stations WJZ and WGY, New York and Schenectady, at 8 o'clock tonight. A special program of popular music has been arranged by the entertainers. WRC, Washington, will also broadcast the entertainment.

Car Foreman Here

A. Zebold, general car foreman of the Hocking Valley Railroad, having offices in Columbus was in Marion yesterday.

Safety Contest

August records of the safety contest being held between the three departments of the Hocking Valley Railroad, are expected to arrive in local offices within the next few days.

The monthly record tells the number of debits suffered by each department as a result of an accident or accidents in that division. The contest is being held in an effort to aid in the reduction of accidents on the railroad.

Gail Briefs

G. M. Finney, trainmaster on the Hocking Valley Railroad, was in Marion yesterday.

L. P. Cameron, of the Hocking Valley Railroad, was in Marion yesterday, taking pictures of the new Silver st. Hocking Valley crossing. Efforts to reproduce the crossing and show the ...

THOUGHT LAST MOMENT HAD COME

But Kellogg's ALL-BRAN conquered constipation, the cause of her trouble

Now she's healthier and happier than ever!

"I awoke with a most disagreeable sensation around my heart and, together with fear, thought my last moment had come. After that I began to be troubled greatly with indigestion. This I treated diligently with supposed cures, but never found anything that completely relieved me except ALL-BRAN."

EDITH M. MASON. (Address on request.)

Constipation is the hideous bugbear of health. It fastens its ravaging hold on young and old. Sallow complexion, pimples, headaches—are all symptoms! Cleanse your system of its poisons for good.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to relieve constipation permanently if eaten regularly. It is 100 per cent bran. That's why doctors recommend it!

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is made by Kellogg in Battle Creek, Michigan. A ready-to-serve cereal, delicious with milk or fruit. Used in cooking too. Served everywhere. Sold by all grocers on a money-back guarantee.

Harker F. Thomas On Station WCX Tonight

SON OF MR. AND MRS. EARL E. THOMAS

Harker F. Thomas, banjoist, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl E. Thomas, E. Church-st, will broadcast through WCX, Detroit Free Press, between 10 and 11 o'clock tonight. Mr. Thomas is now employed by the orchestra of the Red Apple Club, Detroit, and appears on the Red Apple Club's program.

The famous Gilbert and Sullivan light opera, "The Mikado", will be offered in tabloid form by the WEAF Light Opera Company at 9 o'clock Wednesday night, through WEAF, WJAR, WEEI, WCAE, WCSH and KSD. The two Ohio stations, WSAI, Cincinnati, and WTAM, Cleveland, usually on the chain, will offer individual programs Wednesday night. WWJ, Detroit, will follow the same procedure.

Music from the Cleveland Radio Show will feature the broadcasting from WTAM, Wednesday night, beginning at 7:30 and continuing for three hours. Two hours with the Red Apple Club entertainers will be a feature of the afternoon program from the radio exposition. The club will appear at 1:30 p. m.

With WAIU, American Insurance Union, Columbus, silent on Wednesday night, WEAO, Ohio State University, offers four of Columbus' best known singers in an hour concert, starting at 9 o'clock. The singers are Dorothy Simons Humphreys, soprano; Helen Hart Holgcher, contralto; Robert Dechant, tenor, and Robert Barr, baritone.

WLW, Cincinnati, at 8 o'clock Wednesday night, presents "The Mikado" by the Greater Louisville Operatic Ensemble. The ensemble will follow the offering of the operetta with other light opera requests. "The Pink of Programs" sponsored by the Cincinnati Post, presenting many radio favorites, will be transmitted from the station at 10 o'clock.

Among other radio features for Wednesday night are the concert by the Detroit News Orchestra from WWJ, Detroit, the feature band from WDAF, Kansas City, and the broadcasting of the Tennessee State Fair through WSM, Nashville, Tenn. The orchestra and band concerts start at 10 o'clock.

Finally—WE FOUND THE RADIO THAT MAKES Everyone AN EXPERT

Sensational ERLA Advantages —A Year Ahead!

1 Makes everyone an expert in getting distance.
2 Banishes squeals and howls forever.
3 Does not radiate into neighboring antennae.
4 Reproduction positively lifelike.
5 Razor-keen selectivity with actual gain in volume.
6 Superior value at surprisingly low cost.

Erla DeLuxe Console, in quartered and matched burl Walnut, antique finish. List price, $146.50. Standard Console in dark two-tone Genuine American Walnut, $129.50

Anyone WHO CAN WIND A WATCH NOW COMMANDS THE AIR

New MO-NOD-IC Receiver

Erla Omnitonic Cone Speaker

Every member of the family—because of an amazing discovery—may now experience a new and thrilling kind of radio reception.

Those who could never quite master the old type radio . . . with this new discovery . . . become expert.

Some who could "coax-in" only a few nearby points . . . now "tune-in" distance . . . by two easy dials.

Station after station . . . new ones . . . they never could get on the old-fashioned radio . . . are now tuned-in and out at will . . . and by anyone.

The squeals and howls are gone . . . now you get stations instead . . . like an adventure . . . new unheard places and voices appear . . . crisp and clear . . . selectivity razor-keen. Fuzziness and distortion totally absent.

An improvement so important . . . you should know all about it.

The Discovery of Scientists

A revolutionary principle is responsible for this latest development. It is the discovery of a distinguished group of scientists composing the Radio Frequency Laboratories. Scientifically, this discovery may be described as "erasing regeneration." Regeneration is the recognized cause of squeals, howls and distortion.

Many times manufacturers have sought to eliminate it. But never succeeded except by sacrificing volume and distance—too great a penalty. Now, at a single stroke, Erla (RFL) achieves this long wished for result. The only loss is the howls and squeals. There is an actual gain in reception.

Erla "Triple-Life" tubes, including special power tube

It is with good reason that the Erla Mo-nod-ic Receiver is looked upon as fully a year ahead. It eclipses all other types by comparison—and best of all anyone can get these marvelous results.

Not many will put up with obsolete radio receivers now . . . especially when the improved Erla (RFL) may be had at such extremely low cost.

A New Standard of Beauty

Picture the Erla DeLuxe Console in your home . . . an art object . . . worthy of a distinguished place . . . a true "period" reproduction in dark American Walnut . . . hand-rubbed to a warm dull glow . . . finished after the popular antique manner. Paneling is uniquely attractive in matched burl walnut, infinitely varied in exquisite figuration. Imagine it placed just where you want it . . . ideally compact . . . a nook or corner will suffice . . . occupies no more space than a small table or floor lamp.

Erla HUM-FREE "B" Eliminator

Values Unequaled Anywhere

One point will particularly impress you about the new Erla (RFL) . . . the low prices. Producing the new Erla (RFL) entirely by one organization makes it possible to effect great savings . . . outside profits are eliminated and the benefits of one-profit manufacture accomplished.

You can easily compare radio values yourself . . . and should. You will find as we have that you cannot duplicate Erla values anywhere.

Just as a matter of self-protection we advise you . . . do not buy any radio until you investigate the new Erla (RFL). You may as well have these latest improvements so vital to complete radio satisfaction.

See this newest marvel . . . a year ahead . . . you will agree it eclipses all others by comparison . . . The New Erla Mo-nod-ic Receiver. Hear it at stores listed below or have it demonstrated in your own home if you prefer.

Marion Residents Get Word From Florida Storm Victims

FIRST TIDINGS RECEIVED SHOW NO CASUALTIES

Property of One Family Completely Destroyed; Many Await Messages

[illegible] from former Marion [illegible] in storm-swept Florida reach relatives and [illegible] Monday evening and occasional [illegible] continued coming in [illegible] telegraph wires today.

[illegible] from reported havoc, although the property [illegible] was completely destroyed. The message bearing this [illegible] received from Mr. and Mrs. [illegible] of Miami, Monday [illegible] Mrs. J. A. Hickman of [illegible] brother of Mrs. Snyder. Mr. and Mrs. Snyder left Marion for Miami about four weeks ago.

[illegible] over the welfare of a number of other Marion people and [illegible] has been relieved by the [illegible] messages, many other local [illegible] and friends are still anxiously awaiting news from the devastated [illegible] state. Telegraph communication [illegible] partially restored but with [illegible] thousands of messages filed at [illegible] Union and Postal offices [illegible] the country, prompt transmission an impossibility.

"Town a Mess"

M. R. Dickerson, former Marion [illegible] and his family, are safe, according to a telegram received this [illegible] by his daughter, Mrs. Hector [illegible] of Kensington-pl. Mr. Dickerson, who operated a restaurant at Miami Beach, where the storm was most severe, sent the following message: Everyone all right; no one hurt; the town is a mess." With Mr. Dickerson at Miami Beach are his wife, daughter Margaret and son, Milton. The Dickersons returned to Florida about two weeks ago, following a visit in Marion.

Mrs. Cecil E. Turnage, of Homestead, Florida, also in the center of the storm district, telegraphed her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William G. Minnich, 215 Ellsworth, that she and her family are safe and well.

speech in eight words. "I hope you will all vote for father," and that speech was worth more votes than the best that Governor Smith himself could deliver.

RT. REV. IRVING P. JOHNSON, a bishop and editor of The Witness, an Episcopalian periodical, says there is too much talk about whisky, flappers, sex, etc.

"All that America seems to think of or care for is sex relation." It is not particularly new. The Puritans were deeply concerned with the question. They made as many drastic laws in trying to dispose of sex as we make today trying to abolish liquor, with equal success—which is no success at all.

"We should stop regarding the youth with a flask of hooch in his pocket, a flapper by his side and a vacuum in his head as of any importance."

Thus the bishop speaks in Mr. Bonfils' Denver Post. The vacuum in the young man's head is indeed an ancient institution. But boys and girls in high school are drinking bootleg whisky, and that is NEW and important and not to be brushed aside.

BISHOP Johnson says: "Sons and daughters of laboring men are the real factors to consider." The trouble is that the laboring man's sons and daughters, able fortunately to go to high school, now that good wages are paid, also unfortunately come in contact with the bootleg whisky. It is a disease that spreads rapidly.

pounds of gasoline, in some manner became entangled just before the take-off, it is believed. The total plane, with its load, weighed 28,860 pounds.

In its run along the ground, the plane had gathered such speed that it shot out into space perhaps five or six hundred feet after it had cleared the edge of the little cliff. As the plane continued to burn, with the wings of the master machine lying like skeletons beside the warped and twisted fuselage, there remained no doubt in anyone's mind but that both Islamoff and Clavier were dead. It will be some hours before their bodies can be removed.

Fouck and Curtin went to the hangar of the Sikorsky Co. The French ace explained the accident.

"I noticed the auxiliary landing gear had given way when we hit a bump," he said.

Odds Against Them

"The right wheel went in an oblique direction and I could feel that it had torn the left rudder loose. At first, I tried to slow up. Then I knew it was useless to do that because the gulley was so close. I opened her up again, hoping to get into the air, but it could not be done and we smashed."

Contrary to first reports, the pilot and his assistant were not thrown clear of the plane. Sensing the danger of remaining in the plane, Fouck and Curtin crawled out on the nose of the plane. The motors still were running and how they managed to escape the whirling propellers they do not know themselves.

The adventurers had hoped to reach Lebouget airdrome, near Paris, some time tomorrow night. If they had succeeded, they would have flown 3,577 miles, a new world's distance record for a non-stop flight. Lloyds of London had posted odds of 7 to 3 that they would not succeed.

MARION Y-INDUS CLUB HOLDS FIRST MEETING

First meeting of the Marion Y-Indus Club of the season was held in the conference room of the Y. M. C. A., last night.

Commission for the coming year were appointed by Rosten Chenoweth, president of the organization. They include, membership, Chester Biddle, chairman and Hollis Slagle; program, Clarence Boyd, chairman, Robert Hinneger and Wendal Wiant.

Plans for activities for the coming year were discussed at the meeting.

Highway Construction Bill In County Moving Ahead In Spite of Weather Delays

New Water-Bound Macadam Road to Morral Completed Today; Only Mile of Marion-Marysville Road Remains Unfinished; Curbing Being Erected

Although contractors in Marion County have been badly hampered by unfavorable weather conditions this summer, the extensive road building and repairing program of the county is progressing steadily and favorable reports are being received by county commissioners and county surveyor.

The new water-bound macadam road to Morral was completed today by Malloy & Seckle, Marion contractors, according to County Surveyor Cecil R. Leavens.

The southern portion of the highway was constructed last summer and the northern section has been closed this summer for repairs, and rebuilding. With the completion of the pike, Marion County now has a hard-surfaced road leading from this city to Morral.

Mile Incomplete

Only a mile of the Marion-Marysville-rd in Delaware and Union Counties remains to be poured with concrete. Within a month, the road to Marysville and points in southern Ohio will be open for traffic without the detour through Richwood.

Marion County's portion of the road was completed three weeks ago when the highway was thrown open to Newman's bridge and to Route 68 leading into Richwood as a detour.

The section of Newman's crossing, the subject of an unsettled dispute between the state highway department and officials of the Columbus, Delaware & Marion Electric Co., has been "smoothed over" temporarily by the application of several truck loads of gravel and crushed stone.

Because of rainy weather during the first few weeks of this month, work on the improving of Fairgroundst from the east end of the pavement to Madison-av and E. Center-st, has not yet been started, according to County Surveyor Cecil R. Leavens.

Part in City

The street is partly in the city and partly in Marion Township, the construction campaign being arranged following joint action of city officials and county commissioners. Malloy and Seckle of this city, have the contract for the work. The street at present is little more than a mud road and rainy weather makes it impossible to begin work at present.

Louis Dehmer, Tiffin contractor, in charge of Marion County's surface treating campaign under the direction of the county surveyor, is expected in Marion today to embark on the last lap of his work in this county for the season.

A section of Mt. Vernon-av, a portion of the road leading from Big Island north, and a part of the Upper Sandusky-rd are included in the plans for surface treating within the next week.

Rapid Progress

Rapid progress is being made by P. Drake and Sons, contractors for the construction of the section of the Marion-Delaware-rd which passes the Harding Memorial.

Erection of concrete curbs along the remainder of the Marion-Delaware-rd between the city corporation line and the Marion County line is almost completed. Anstine & Carey of Kenton, have the contract for the job from the north end to Waldo, with L. L. Aller, their subcontractor, in charge of the work from Waldo south to the county line.

HARDING AREA IS REPRESENTED AT CONVENTION

857 Boy Scout Executives Attending Hot Springs National Park Meeting

A total of 857 Boy Scout executives from all parts of the United States have registered at the fourth biennial conference which is being held this week at Hot Springs National Park, Ark., according to word received this morning from Executive W. C. Brown of Harding Area, Boy Scouts of America. Executive Brown left Monday from Galion on a special Big Four train and plans to return Oct. 1.

"The convention this year is one of the best ever," says Executive Brown today.

"Our programs are very interesting, starting at 7:30 o'clock and finishing at 9:30 o'clock at night. Sunday's program will be just as complete and I believe some of the country's leading religious workers are scheduled to be with us.

"I am particularly interested in our courses of study which include: Scoutmaster training, courts of honor coaching, camp equipment and problems, committee work, and many programs of scout work which have proven most successful and beneficial in various parts of the country. These are only a few of the many subjects offered here this year and other branches of study include educational and religious conference and round table discussions. We are very busy, indeed.

It was announced that the stores of Smart & Waddell, shoe merchants, Tarhaut & Mautz, hardware firm and Heuney & Cooper Drug Co., would feature a window display in connection with the opening of the activities.

SECOND INDICTED AUTO DRIVER IS FINED TODAY

Joe Durst of Columbus Assessed $10 and Costs by Judge Justice

Another reckless driver indicted by Marion County Grand Jury pleaded guilty today and was fined $10 and costs by Judge Charles L. Justice.

The driver assessed today was Joe Durst of Columbus. Saturday morning, Donald Mayse, Scranton-av was fined $10 and costs on similar charges following his plea of guilty. Mayse's fine was paid but Durst is in County Jail as the result of his failure to pay his fine and costs.

Durst was arrested following an accident, Aug. 13, in the village of Morral. Charges were filed against him by J. J. Rudd of Morral, who accused Durst of wrecking his machine and neglecting to stop to determine the seriousness of the crash. Rudd's machine was occupied by several small children, it is reported.

Durst pleaded not guilty before G. Washburn, justice of the peace at Morral, and was bound over to grand jury under a $200 bond. He was not served with indictment papers until Friday and appeared in court today, pleading guilty and receiving the sentence.

The trial of William Briggs of this city, charged by Bruno Bros. with embezzlement of $247 and indicted by the grand jury, is in progress today, Judge Charles L. Justice is presiding at the trial.

Briggs, according to Bruno Bros., was employed by them as a collector and failed to account for $247 which he had collected.

No other cases, civil or criminal, are scheduled for the petit jury in Common Pleas Court this week. No assignment of cases for the September term has yet been made.

WALTER HAGEN LEADING AT FIRST 18 HOLES

Sailsbury Country Club, Garden City, N. Y., Sept. 21—Walter Hagen, Pasadena, Fla., led Joe Turnesa, Elmsford, N. Y., three up when they had played the first 18 holes in their 36-hole match in the first round of the professional Golfers' Association championship today.

Hagen established an early lead, winning the second, third and fourth holes and at one time was five up, but Turnesa holed a 25-foot putt for a birdie two to win the 16th and a 30-footer to win the 18th with a birdie three.

MIAMI BEGINS RECONSTRUCTION

Miami, Fla., Sept. 21—(Palm Beach via courier)—Today found Miami beginning actual reconstruction with martial law lifted.

Restoration of water and electric light service began with the rescinding of martial rule by Colonel V. H. Collins, of Plant City, Monday night, and construction workers were busily engaged erecting and repairing dwellings before daylight.

Rescue parties kept up a search for bodies. It is believed an accurate casualty list can not be obtained for several days. More than 200 are reported dead in Miami, Miami Beach and Hollywood.

Expressions of sympathy and offers of aid were received from all parts of the country. Medical supplies and foodstuffs were pouring in at such a rate that civil authorities said the only aid needed by greater Miami was money to aid the destitute in rebuilding their homes. The food supply is ample for about 60 days and more can be obtained on short notice, authorities said.

Miami and Pompano

The fury of the storm was spent between Miami and Pompano, about 40 miles north. The hurricane which tore a path of death and destruction on the lower east coast continued its havoc across the state, killing 40 persons at Moorehaven, on Lake Okeechobee.

Sebring suffered considerable damage from wind and water. Key West reported that "all was well."

An estimate of the property damage is impossible at this time, but the combined losses of Miami, Miami Beach, Hollywood, and Fort Lauderdale, including marine destruction, will conservatively exceed $250,000,000.

In Miami Beach, which is practically isolated from the outside world by a condemned causeway, many mansions were razed by the hurricane.

Beautiful Homes Wrecked

The Carl G. Fisher home on Lincoln-rd is a mass of debris. The Roney Plaza, Wofford and Pan Coast Hotels, all along the ocean front, bore the brunt of the storm. The golf stream apartment building further north, was damaged to the extent of $100,000. The Firestone estate and a number of beautiful homes were wrecked.

With the disposal of martial law, it was made plain that military authorities would cooperate with the city in maintaining peace and order.

Every workman was pressed into service rebuilding houses. New roofs were going on rapidly, street crews were cleaning the thoroughfares of fallen trees, telephone poles and other debris. Storekeepers began taking an inventory of their undamaged stocks.

At a meeting Monday night of representatives of every branch of the city and county government, civic clubs, Red Cross and other organizations first steps were taken to bring about normalcy and precautions taken against epidemic.

PENSACOLA STILL CUT OFF, REPORT

Washington, Sept. 21—Hurricane-stricken Pensacola still was cut off from the world this morning, so far as the navy could ascertain.

Repeated attempts during the night to get in communication with the big naval radio station there met with failure. No word has been received from Pensacola direct since yesterday before the hurricane struck the city.

PENSACOLA SUFFERS HEAVY DAMAGE

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 21—Still cut off from the outside world, Pensacola, Fla., today was reported to have suffered severe damage from the tropical hurricane.

A wireless message picked up from an unknown vessel at sea declared the famous old port on the gulf is in ruins. Many deaths were reported.

Mobile, Ala., appears to have escaped any casualties. The storm laid waste to property, causing damage estimated at $500,000. The streets there were reported filled with debris as the result of a 100-mile an hour gale.

With the fury almost spent, the storm passe inand along the Alabama and northwestern Florida coast, taking known death toll of 10 lives. This figure may be materially increased when the toll taken at Pensacola becomes known.

Five at Jackson

Five were reported killed when the storm struck Jackson, Ala., near the Florida border; two were killed near Bay Minette and three more lives were taken at Flomaton, reports said.

New Orleans escaped with small damage, but the city was swept by a heavy rain and miniature gale. The gulf coast towns further east were hardest hit, with scores of settlements reporting property damage and injuries from the storm.

Even as far north as Atlanta, the fury of the hurricane was felt. A cold rain fell steadily and the temperature dropped 20 degrees in a few hours.

No ships were reported in distress, many doubtless heeding the warnings given by the Weather Bureau and seeking safety before the tempest.

CENTER OF STORM AT MERIDIAN, MISS.

New Orleans, Sept. 21—Word was anxiously awaited today as to the damage and possible casualties suffered by Pensacola and Mobile and other gulf coast towns struck by the West Indian hurricane.

Somewhat spent in its fury, the storm has swept inland with its center at Meridian, Miss. But the whole of Alabama and parts of Mississippi, Louisiana and Georgia were in the grip of the storm, and a virtual cloudburst was reported at Troy, Ala.

Pensacola was still cut off and only fragmentary radio reports came from Mobile. The Algiers navy radio station here got in touch with Pensacola at 8 o'clock last night and was advised that little property damage was done, despite a 72 mile gale.

All efforts to communicate with Pensacola since then have failed. A radio report from an unknown steamer, however, reported Pensacola "in ruins."

NO LOSS OF LIFE REPORTED IN MOBILE

Mobile, Ala., Sept. 21—Not content with the death and destruction which it wrought in southern Florida all during Sunday and Monday, the West Indian hurricane today continued its wrath march inland from the Gulf of Mexico, laying waste sections of northwest Florida, southern Alabama and Louisiana.

Damage here and in Pensacola probably will total a million dollars, or more, it is believed.

No loss of life in Mobile had been been reported early today.

A radio report stated the towns of Seminole and Lillian, Ala., had been wrecked, with the loss of 10 or a dozen lives, and great property damage. Five were killed when the tempest struck the village of Jackson, Ala. Two were reported killed near Bay Minette and several crushed by debris at Flomaton.

Extensive property damage and injuries to persons were reported from Enterprise, Hartford, Geneva, Bay Minette, Monroeville, Dothan, Brewton, Troy and Alusa, Evergreen and Flomaton.

PALM BEACHES ARE AIDING OTHER CITIES

West Palm Beach, Fla., Sept. 21—The Palm Beaches today still are concentrating every effort toward aiding other cities and towns along the east coast that were more heavily damaged by the fury of Saturday's tropical twister. Ambulance load after load of wounded persons were brought here.

It seemed like the days of the war again. Standing on the street corners were little groups of weary-eyed men and women. They awaited expectantly for new extra editions of the daily papers to search the death lists for news of friends or loved ones.

While uniformed nurses, khaki-clad soldiers, sailors and coast guardsmen were all bent on performing some aid to neighboring cities. They gathered around the American Legion headquarters awaiting the call.

Hotels Little Damaged

A Miami detective arrived here last Monday night seeking narcotics to aid sufferers there. A doctor was making the rounds of doctors' offices for tetanus serum. In the legion building, tired-eyed women were folding bandages and packing bundles of clothing. Food was being arranged for in another section of the building. Refugees from the storm-swept sections have started to come here in droves. They are a tired lot and most of them are stricken with sorrow. But upon every face seems to be written an expression the birth of a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. of determination that they may be down, but a long way from being out.

The big hotels in the winter colony at Palm Beach suffered little damage. The new Breakers Hotel, under construction, was slightly damaged. What was left from the previous storm of the board walk at Gus Bath and the Billows Hotel suffered slight damages.

Most of the yacht owners heeded storm warnings and tied up in the San Luce Canal or in the Royal Poinciana basin and avoided wreckage. A few were sunk. More than a dozen houseboats have been wrecked.

Ocean-blvd in Palm Beach County was left impassable by the storm, except between Lakeworth and Palm Beach and between Boynton and Del Bay. Between Del Day and Boca Raton, the scenic highway overlooking the ocean is literally wiped away.

THREE MORE DEAD IN JACKSON, ALA.

Montgomery, Ala., Sept. 21—The known death toll in the storm that struck Alabama coastal towns was raised to eight today when three more persons died of injuries in Jackson, Ala. Five were killed by the storm there yesterday.

Many buildings were destroyed.

Meanwhile, reports came in here of huge loss of life in Bay Minette, which was in the direct path of the hurricane. A train crew, leaving Bay Minette on a handcar in the teeth of the storm, reported they saw at least a dozen bodies.

Many washouts were reported. Incoming trains were hours late while all trains leaving the city were re-routed over the A. and W. P. and Southern Railways.

second time, damaging its right front fender and hood.

Thrown back into the ditch on the right side of the highway by the second collision with the Moore machine, the Hepp car careened up the ditch, striking a telephone pole. Impact with the pole caused the machine to turn over several times. When the car finally stopped it was resting on its side in the center of the roadway.

Several Witnesses

Witnesses claim Hepp was thrown from the car about 40 feet south of where the machine was found in the road. The girl crawled from the wreckage uninjured save for a few minor bruises.

The Studebaker machine was completely wrecked, while the Moore car with damaged hood, right front and left rear fenders, was moved on to South Amherst under its own power. None of the three persons in the Moore car, which was brought to a stop on the left side of the highway after the second collision, was injured.

According to Bucyrus officials of the Suburban Light & Power Co., Miss Kearney had been visiting in Bucyrus for several days. She checked out of the Highway Hotel, Bucyrus, yesterday, for Cleveland.

Going to Cleveland

Hepp, who makes his headquarters at Bucyrus, was taking the girl to Cleveland and had driven to Marion to look after some business. It was while the two were enroute to Cleveland from Marion by way of Bucyrus that the accident occurred.

According to word received here by officials Hep is a native of Philadelphia where a sister is now living. He moved to Cleveland several years, engaging as a broker for the light and power company with which he was associated when he met his death. He had only recently been associated with the Marion establishments.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed pending the arrival of relatives of the victim from Cleveland. The body is at the H. Schaffner funeral parlors, S. Main-st.

Persons who claimed they witnessed the accident and making reports to Sheriff James A. Deal were J. R. Henley, 241 W. 11th-st, Columbus; Fred C. Lutz, Marion, and Elmer, Wilbur and Floyd Van Meter, living near the scene of the accident.

BIRTHS

A daughter was born, Monday, to Mr. and Mrs. Harold Austin, Reed-av. It was announced today.

A son was born yesterday to Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Luke, Davids-st, it was announced today.

Announcement was made today of Emerson McKelvy of near Mecker,

MARION FIGURES PROMINENTLY IN KIWANIS MEET

Hope To Elect Local Man to State Office; May Bid for Convention

Delegates A. W. Kette, George Whysall, F. H. Cowan and a number of other Marion Kiwanians are in Columbus attending the annual state convention at Hotel Chittenden.

Other members of the local club are planning to motor to Columbus this evening and Wednesday forenoon to attend the closing sessions. Election of officers will be held Wednesday morning and the convention will close following a luncheon.

Nearly 500 Kiwanians are reported in attendance.

Golf and vaudeville acts helped the convention guests pass away a few hours Monday, the opening day of the meeting. Rain prevented golf matches scheduled for late in the afternoon and the golfers joined the women guests at the Hotel Chittenden for dinner last night. Music, dancing and other social activities followed the dinner.

Bidding for Convention

Convention reports are being heard and other business is being transacted today preparatory to the annual election. Marion hopes to elect a state officer this year and will also make a bid for next year's convention.

Members interested in getting next year's convention for this city will attend the Columbus meeting tonight and Wednesday, according to reports today.

Prizes Total $3,000

Prizes totaling more than $3,000 are being offered guests during the three-day convention.

The contest displays in the Chittenden parlor are beautiful and of special interest to the women.

MANSFIELD POLICE ON LOOKOUT FOR CAR THIEF

Seek Youth Who Stole Machine and Struck Marion Man's Auto

Mansfield police today are attempting to trace a young man who stole a Maxwell coupe from Lawrence Hughes of that city, about 10 o'clock Sunday night, crashed into the Buick sedan of Harry Hess, Hane-av, this city, and later lost control of the car on the Harding Highway, west of Ontario.

The young man struck the Hess car from the rear and in an effort to escape paying a damage bill, pulled out of the traffic and sped past Mr. Hess. The Marion man followed him and being unable to see his license from the rear, passed the Hughes car to get the number from the front of the car.

The Hughes car immediately increased its speed, reeled by Hess, wobbled across the road, and went into the ditch.

Following the accident, police report, the young man was picked up by Rev. R. C. Gochel of Mansfield, who was enroute to that city. Rev. Gochel did not suspect that the man was a thief.

The stolen car was badly damaged in the wreck, police say. Apparently the young thief escaped with minor injuries.

10 MARION MEN TO ATTEND CONVENTION

Local Real Estate Board To Be Well Represented at State Meeting in Lima Next Month

Ten members of the Marion Real Estate Board will attend the state convention of the Ohio Association of Real Estate Boards to be held Oct. 6-8, at the Elks Club, Lima, it was announced today during the regular meeting of the board in the Harding Hotel.

A large number of local realtors were in attendance at the meeting and all took part in a discussion of questions to be brought up at the state convention.

Attorney J. W. Jacoby of this city is president of the Ohio Association of Real Estate Boards.

consent of the United States being given.

Propose Compromise

The powers couldn't agree to that, and they compromised by adopting a general resolution to the effect that the United States could come into the court on the same footing and with the same privileges as members of the League of Nations. At the same time, the powers admitted that it has never been determined whether it is necessary to have a unanimous vote or merely a majority vote to obtain an advisory opinion from the court.

This is the focal point of the entire controversy. If only a majority vote of the league council is required to obtain an advisory opinion, then the United States would have only one vote and could not possibly block such an opinion, irrespective of how much or how little American interests were affected. Thus the fifth reservation would be completely nullified.

Insist on Reservation

Even the pro-court senators admitted today they would be dissatisfied with any such arrangement. The senate insisted strongly on the fifth reservation—only three votes were cast against it and it is not believed that the senate will accept the nullification of its pet reservation under any circumstances.

"Not three men in the senate would vote for acceptance of the powers' proposal as adopted at Geneva," said Senator Willis, republican, of Ohio. Willis has been a staunch supporter of the court.

When people begin to whistle a popular air all the sentiment is blown out of it.

We not that Chicago has a number of committees at work, arranging for her big fair in 1933, but what we can not understand is how they can make much progress until they have a reasonably fair line on who is going to be the world champion heavyweight at that time.

There is always some degree of compensation, trifling though it may be, and in this connection it may be pointed out that while the lives of us true aristocrats of the land are unusually full of hazard in this day and age we are aloof from worry over the possible exhaustion of the gasolene supply in six years.

There's never any figuring on what some women may do, but it's not improbable that the next time Aimee McPherson feels that she must have a little publicity for what's ailing her she'll buy it at regular space rates and save embarrassment.

Aristide Briand says that "one negotiates so much better in sunshine." Possibly true, Aristide, possibly true. But the mere fact that we have had a lot of rain over here need not have estopped you folks over there from arranging to pay. All the negotiating had been concluded before it started to rain.

The Yale economist who says prohibition was forced too soon needn't get chesty on the strength of his assumption that he has made a discovery. Nearly every fellow who has found his pre-Volstead supply running short has said the same thing.

Since there is no longer any possibility that anything we may say may prejudice the grand jury, it having taken action in the Hall-Mills case, we want to point out that it is a mighty suspicious circumstance that in all New Brunswick there doesn't appear to have been a single solitary soul at home the night of the double killing in De Russe lane.

To Get Away from Sameness.

A day or two ago a local citizen expressed the view to the Star that there is too much of a sameness about the majority of Marion homes, and wanted to know why we could not have more variety in our styles of home architecture.

There is utterly no reason why we can not. There is every reason why we should. Why there is no greater diversification in style is not at all hard to understand. Much of residential Marion has been built by home-builders rather than by home-owners. Naturally many homes have been erected in groups and have been along a general plan with such individual modifications as have been possible without excessive cost to the builder. We must expect this.

But when the prospective home-owner is the builder, there can be no reason why he should not get away from the general trend; no reason why he should not show his individual taste. He may consult an architect. If he does not care to do that, there are so many booklets of designs to be had, that it should not be at all hard for him to get away from the sameness which the local citizen holds is far from pleasing to the eye.

Marion unquestionably could be made far more attractive in her appearance if we would give a little more study to the pleasing in architecture and follow the ideas thus gained when erecting our homes.

The Homeless and Destitute.

Perhaps at no other time do we get so clear an insight into the very soul of America as is given us when some mighty catastrophe befalls a section of our land such a catastrophe as has just been suffered by the very heart of Florida's richest territory. It is at times such as the present that we discover the spirit of America at its best. Ever close upon the story of horror comes the story of care for the dead and aid and comfort to the suffering and the unfortunate. In the present case they came even more closely than ordinarily intermingled with the stories of the terrific hurricane which swept up from the West Indies and cut a sixty-mile-wide swath diagonally across the Florida state, leaving its awful toll of death and destruction in its wake, were stories of trainloads of physicians and nurses speeding southward. There were stories of the activities of the Red Cross. Other stories told of supplies of all kinds on the way. Still other stories detailed action taken by the government to police the stricken cities with. speeding southward. There were stories of action taken by federal, state and municipal authorities to raise funds and secure supplies for the storm sufferers. While the very thought of the horror sickened, one's heart beat faster in pride for a land which thus responded to humanity's call.

Southern seacoast and gulf cities are ever under the menace of West Indian storms, and those of the Florida east coast which have been built upon keys or filled-in coral islands are especially vulnerable to the fury of such storms. They are but little above sea level, and, unlike inland cities and towns, not only suffer from the terrific force of the wind, but also from the mighty seas which the winds force before them. From the reports thus far received, the solid, substantially-constructed buildings in the stricken territory withstood the storm amazingly well, but much of Florida's development outside her resort cities has been of the mushroom order, with buildings of cheap and unsubstantial construction. It was in such sections that the greatest life loss occurred, thought not the greater property damage.

The life loss as a result of Saturday's storm estimated at from 300 to 500, is not be be compared with the 6,000 dead in the Galveston flood, of 1900, to say nothing of the 30,000 dead of St. Pierre, in 1907, the 100,000 killed by earthquake, tidal wave and fire in Japan, in 1923, the 100,000 victims of the Yangtse flood in 1911, or the 900,000 drowned by the flood on the Hoang-Ho in 1887. Nor is the property loss so great as that which attended the earthquake and fire suffered twenty years ago by San Francisco. But the horror of this Florida storm is brought so much closer home to us than has been that of any of the great world calamities of profane history. So many of our friends and acquaintances were in the stricken district, so many of our people's own property there, so many of our citizens spend their winters there and so many of us know the cities and villages in the zone swept by the hurricane that the story of it is of special interest here. To us it is a story local in its interest, just as it is in hundreds of cities and villages throughout the country as a result of the recent activity in Florida realty. For this reason, the appalling loss in life suffered and the suffering and misery bound to ensue touches us as have the results of few, if any, great catastrophes of the past.

Marion should speedily take action to do her full share in rendering aid to the thousands who have been left homeless and destitute by the storm.

We hear and see a lot in print about human understanding, and yet this is the eighty-fifth anniversary of the railroad time-table!

It is hardly fair to say that Mr. Pinchot never supports the party nominee in state or national politics. There's little question but what he gave his support to the present Keystone state governor.

Vagrant Verse.

AUTUMN.

There is a warning stillness in these days
Like that sad look which comes into the eyes
Of one who with a gentle, silent gaze
Foretells the news of some dear friend's demise
Before his speech has uttered what we know
So Autumn now, in her own mystic way,
Is telling that the summer days must go,
And dressed in regal colors, bright and gay
She tries to hide from us her loss and grief
And mutely weeps beside her sister's bier—
The one whose joyous life seemed all too brief
Whose gladness sang the praises of the year
And Autumn in her silence kneels in prayer
For Summer's soul that now is passing there.

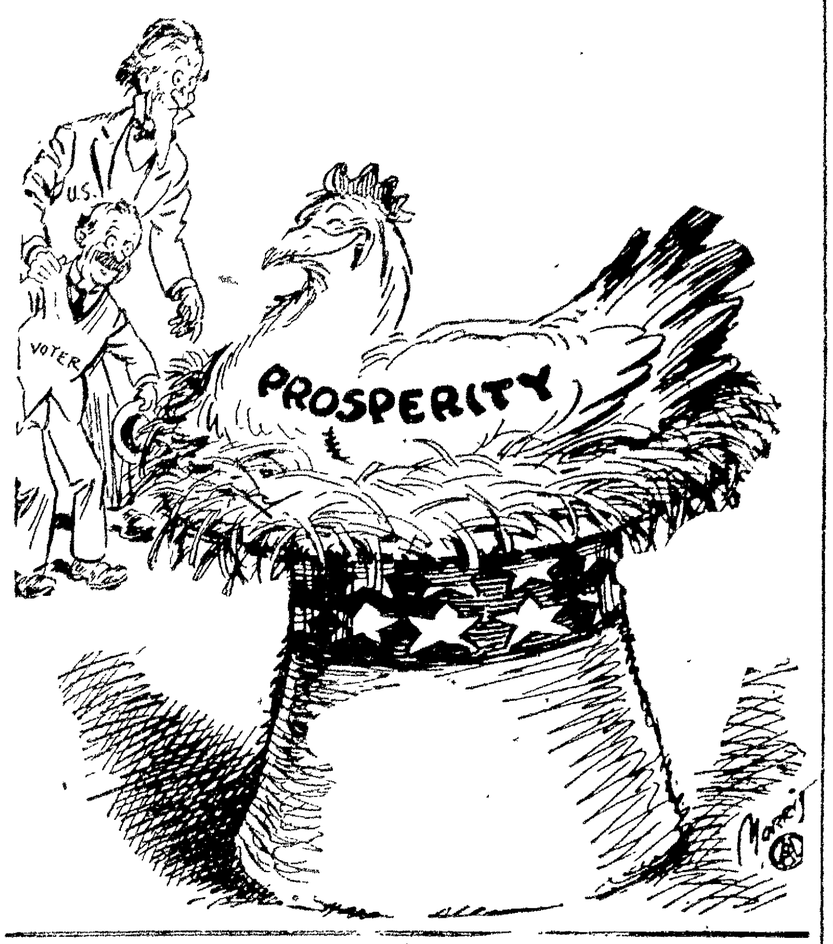
IF SHE CONTINUES WITH US, SHE WILL LAY ANOTHER REDUCTION EGG



Children Should Breathe Deeply.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York. Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

Not so long ago a New York state lady wrote me for ideas regarding health demonstrations she is to conduct for the benefit of country children. She appeared to be particularly interested in correct posture.

I suggested that she point out the importance of deep breathing. If there is one thing more than another which to my mind deserves the attention of all persons interested in the physical well-being of the race, it is deep breathing.

When you see a lot of children in bathing it is amazing what a large proportion of them have hollow chests, prominent collar bones, narrow shoulders, and other evidences of deficient lung development. One of the reasons why so many girls have the outrageous figures they possess, is because they haven't enough body development to give them form.

A measure I recommend to develop lung capacity is a blowing exercise. Have the child stand in front of a lace curtain or a piece of paper suspended in a doorway, and ask him to blow at the object. He does this until he sees it wave in the air.

Of course it is not the blowing that does the good, but in order to blow he must fill the lungs with air. When you try this with a large number of persons you will be surprised how many of them just give a little puff and regard that as blowing. A well-developed pair of lungs, at a distance of nine or ten feet, will cause a lace curtain to move.

To teach the children to stand correctly and to breathe correctly will do much to improve their nourishment and their general well-being. Food can not digest without oxygen, and there can't be a sufficient supply of oxygen without deep breathing.

A person can take off weight by reducing his food intake, but he can't go far toward putting on weight by increasing the food intake. It is necessary not alone to increase the food intake, but also to increase the supply of oxygen. Almost always you will find that the skinny, undernourished child is a child who does not breathe as he should.

Every child should be taught the first principles of food knowledge. He should know what to eat and why particular foods are necessary to furnish a balanced diet.

As I have observed children, particularly in the country, it seems to me they are too generously dressed. They wear too much clothing, but no child can appear well dressed unless correct posture is added to the possession of good clothes.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES.

Mrs. D. V. C. Q.—What is a cure for mental depression?

A. Recreation and diversion will help a great deal. Try to get your mind off of yourself. Go out in the fresh air as much as possible and give careful attention to the health in general.

M. P. Q.—Can a goitre in the early stages be cured? What are the symptoms?

A. Yes, in most instances. Nervousness, palpitation, swelling of the throat are all indications of a goitre. If the trouble is suspected the doctor should be consulted, since each case requires specific treatment.

* * *

E. C. Q.—What should a girl of nearly seventeen, five feet four inches tall weigh?

2. What will reduce the ankles and calves of the legs?

A.—She should weight about 125 pounds.

2.—Exercise should bring about results. Walking, dancing, climbing, running, etc., are all beneficial.

* * *

Q. What will remove a large brown wart on the lower eyelid—which seems to be growing larger?

A. You should see your doctor and be guided by his judgment in the matter. It is never wise to attempt to treat a growth of any kind, much less so near the eye, without careful medical supervision.

A. B. Q.—Is there any cure for a simple goitre? Would iodine help?

A. Yes, but the treatment should be advised after careful examination, since each case demands specific attention. It might, but should only be taken under the direction of your doctor. Copyright, 1926.

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

No American poet, essayist, philosopher or industrial leader ever gave better advice than Longfellow gave in one line when he closed the verse of a famous poem with these words:

"Learn to labor and to wait."

The young fellow out of school has learned only a little about laboring and nothing about waiting. He wants to start to work this morning and be a high salaried executive tomorrow. If he is told he is in line for a good job ahead he is disappointed and sometimes discouraged if he doesn't get that good job in ten days. Most men who have put over real successes have given twenty years or more to it. Young men today, just as in the past, must "learn to labor and to wait."

City traffic departments will do well to consider the abolishment of right-hand turns for automobiles at busy corners. Pedestrians are most endangered on down town streets by cars that come around the corner from behind.

Pedestrians are taught to cross streets "with the traffic." They are taught to go when the traffic sign says "go." That means they are in danger of being struck from behind.

Strange how we perpetuate traditions when their acts are no longer with us. Take the Saturday night bath, for example. A newspaper in Lorain, Ohio, discovered that water consumption in that town is lowest over the week-end. Probably that is a typical experience in a typical town. So "bath night" must go the way of outworn superstitions.

Having hanged seventeen leaders of the Turkish Party of Union Progress, the ruling powers in Turkey have practically relieved themselves of that party. That is a little rough, but the system bears thinking about. Perhaps our democracy would function better if we could be rid of some so-called leaders so easily.

This hanging business should be investigated.

Like Seasickness.

[Chicago Tribune.]

Dr. Bundesen has issued a bulletin concerning hay fever. He says it is becoming less prevalent in Chicago because vacant lots are being built up. When the lots go the weeds go, and without the pollen from weeds there can be no hay fever.

Dr. Bundesen says hay fever is not catching. If it were a communicable disease and a bit deadly, it would have been wiped out long ago. We know what causes it and we could have stopped it at the source. Unfortunately for the sufferers, they are relatively few in number and they can sneeze for hours and days at a time without threatening the health of any one else. Their friends know that the first frost will cure the disease. There is a good deal in common between seasickness and hay fever. The fellow who hasn't got it observes the writhings of the fellow who has with an equanimity which borders on indifference.

All that has been said hitherto is by way of prelude to the observation that if this were a truly Christian community, owners of vacant lots would see to it that the weeds were cut down about this time of the year.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. McINTYRE.

New York, Sept. 21—Those valeted saps who—when not attempting to Burbank misplaced eyebrow into a full grown mustache—roam along the Fifth avenue curbs in canary-red roadsters in quest of the flirtatious adventure have been having trouble lately.

One drew up in front of a lady near Tiffany's and called out: "Hop in, cutie, I'll roll you home." Cutie did not, but a stalwart husband talking to a friend nearby did. And in five minutes the balked Romeo had a perfectly mousled eye, a dangling tooth and puzzled expression.

Further up the avenue near the Plaza two young men waved to a very pretty girl and pulled in at the curb. She thought they were acquaintances and stepped out to greet them. "Take a little ride?" they cooed. "No, but you will," she said, and calling a cop they were transferred to a patrol wagon.

In another instance an accosted lady swung a heavy mash bag on a derby and sent it crushing over a set of ears and, thus blinding him, she clawed a well-barbered face with tigerish ferocity.

There are unfortunately many otherwise respectable girls who see no harm in accepting a free ride home with a chance acquaintance. It sometimes seems to offer a touch of romance to the day of drabness. But the danger is there.

Several young girls listed among the vast army of "missing persons" have been traced to Fifth avenue where they were pick-ups of auto flirts and have been seen no more. It is usually a prelude to a few drinks and a rollicking joy ride.

Between 5 and 7 in the evening the avenue is filled with the roaming adventurers. They are well-dressed and drive fine cars. So keen has the practice grown that there is a special squad of plain-clothes men whose job is to trap offenders.

There is no place where so-called Babbittry—a virtue allocated only to smaller cities—is so evident as at the opening night of a play. The hardiest Rotarian at a suburban development banquet is in no more evidence than the so-called men-about-town between acts. The flutter around shaking hands, clapping shoulders and generally showing off. They laugh long and boisterously at some feeble wheeze that is supposed to be of only local import and not for the out-of-towner. The mention of a New York name with some humorless suggestion sends them off into gales of forced laughter. It might be imagined from their didoes that the Shuberts, Earl Carroll, Mayor Walker's fondness for Broadway and the latest slang are known only in that sophisticated strip between Columbus circle and Herald square.

And I am often reminded that Main street hasn't a monopoly on the spit-and-whittle clubs. Broadway, for instance, has any number of special stands for loafers. Glance in front of the Palace any evening. Or the Automat near the Globe. Or on the corner of Forty-Seventh street and in front of those clusters of hotels in west Forty-Seventh street. Loafing and exchanging intimate gossip is not confined to small towns. Loafers just appear more conspicuous there.

Also for years I have looked for the real man-about-town. He doesn't seem to be "about."

Who's Who and Why.

J. MONROE JOHNSON.

J. Monroe Johnson, of Marion, South Carolina, a major, lieutenant colonel and colonel of engineers in the World war, and by profession a civil engineer, has announced his candidacy for national commander of the American legion. The legion will hold its annual convention in Philadelphia, October 11-15.

Colonel Johnson was a sergeant in the Spanish-American war in the First South Carolina volunteer battery, heavy artillery. When the United States entered the World war, he recruited the First South Carolina battalion of engineers at the request of the governor in twelve days and was appointed major June 1, 1917. He was promoted to lieutenant colonel in April, 1918, during contact with the enemy. He went through the Champagne sector and defensive, Chateau Thiery offensive, St. Mihiel offensive and sector, the first Argonne offensive, in which he was promoted to colonel of the 117th; then through the second Argonne offensive and into Germany with the army of occupation. He is colonel of engineers, O. R. C. IV corps.

Besides being a Mason, Colonel Johnson is a member of Signa Nu fraternity, the American society of Civil Engineers, the American Society of Military Engineers, St. Cecelia society and the Rainbow Division Veterans.

Colonel Johnson was born in Marion, South Carolina, May 5, 1878. He was educated in the University of South Carolina and Furman university.

Today's Worst Story.

BY WILL ROGERS.

The worst story I heard today was told to me by W. W. Carver, of the Union Trust company, of Cincinnati. Well, it strikes me as being not a bad yarn at that. You know the beauty of anything, either good or bad, is to keep it short. Well, this Carver party has got it pretty well whittled down.

A man and his wife were arguing. That sounds plausable so far. Of course he lost. That's more plausible still. In fact it is a universal truth. He said: "Don't you think I am ever right?" She replied—and you all know how they can reply—"Yes, you are right sometimes. Even a clock that don't run is right twice a day."

THIS SPECIALIST DECLARES CANCER IS GROUP OF ILLS

William S. ROTARY CLUB HEARS COMMISSIONER SIFRITT

Thirty-Five Members of Organization To Go To Mansfield Meeting

County Health Commissioner Dr. N. Sifritt gave an enlightening report of his four years' work Monday noon at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Rotary Club attended by 47 members and guests at Hotel Harding. Among the guests were Rotarians William Pierce of Syracuse, N. Y., Henry L. Nicholas, Chicago, and Dr. J. C. King of New York City.

Thirty-five Rotarians signified their intentions of visiting the Mansfield club one week from Tuesday in acceptance of an invitation extended by Rotarian Bacon and his associates. The Mansfield visit will take the place of next week's Monday meeting.

Announcement was also made that Congressman Brooks Fletcher of this city will address a ladies' night dinner meeting Oct. 11 at Hotel Harding.

Tells of Clinic

Following his introduction by William C. Barthlamew, Commissioner Sifritt stated that childhealth work started in Marion County with a clinic which was very well attended in 1922.

"Marion County's second clinic was fostered by the Rotarians," Dr. Sifritt said.

"Children in Marion County, generally speaking, are well cared for and are well fed. We are more fortunate than a number of other Ohio counties in that we do not have one colored or foreign child in our county schools, outside of the City of Marion.

"To date we have cared for 14 cases through the aid of the state department. Four of these cases have been disposed of, as cured or otherwise. Today we have 10 cases in our care.

"Crippled children between the ages of one and 21 total about 90 in Marion County. We have 60 in the city and near 29 in the rural district. Only 50 per cent of this number have been reported by school officials possibly due to the fact that they have not been properly instructed or because a number of the cripples are not included in the number of school age. Many do not clearly understand what we mean by crippled children.

"We do not recommend help for crippled children mentally deficient.

"Infantile paralysis and tuberculosis cause nearly 50 per cent of the recognized causes for crippled children. Today we have a state-wide movement asking the support of everyone in the eradication of these evils", concluded the speaker.

UNITED STATES TIRES ARE GOOD TIRES

Answering Some Questions About the Most Advanced Method of Tire Building

Steps in Building a United States Tire by the Flat Band Method
1. Laying plies of Latex-treated Web Cord on drum. 2. Applying tread rubber. 3. Placing tire on inflation machine. 4. Inflation finished. Tire formed.

Some facts about the United States Rubber Company's "Flat Band Method" which ensures uniform stretch and tension of every cord in the tire

Q—What is the "Flat Band Method" of building a tire?
A—The tire is built in the form of a flat band upon a drum. The plies of Latex-treated Web Cord are laid and fitted by hand, one above the other. The opposite edges of the band are turned around and securely anchored to "beads" consisting of rings of many strands of piano wire imbedded in hard rubber. The flat band carcass is then brought into shape on a special machine.

Q—Does this differ from the usual method of building tires?
A—Yes. Before the United States Rubber Company developed the Flat Band Method, the usual practice was to use a solid, metal ring-shaped form on which the cord fabric was laid and pressed into place by a rotating wheel coming in contact with the surface of the rubberized fabric.

Q—What does Flat Band building add to the service of United States Tires?
A—It makes the tire uniformly strong throughout. It eliminates the fault often found in the old-style construction, of some cords being too taut while others were loose. In Flat Band building, all the cords are under even tension, and flexibility is uniform. There are no weak spots to develop trouble.

Q—What Company developed the Flat Band Method?
A—The Flat Band Method was developed by the United States Rubber Company and is patented and owned by this Company.

A MOST attractive autumn wedding was solemnized at 8:15 o'clock this morning when Miss Ana F. Orians became the bride of Byron Beard Stalter of near Upper Sandusky. The ceremony took place at St. Mary's Church with Father F. X. Cotter, pastor of the church, officiating with the single ring ceremony.

The bride was charming in a gown of white Molly-O satin with white kid slippers and accessories to match. A silk tulle bridal veil with a half crown of orange blossoms adorned her head. Her flowers were a shower of white roses and lilies of the valley.

Attended By Cousin

Mrs. Stalter was attended by her cousin, Miss Jane Hempfling of Zanesville. Her gown was of coral crepe romaine with picture hat and accessories to harmonize, while her flowers were an arm bouquet of Madame Butterfly roses. Mr. Stalter was attended by W. O. Orians, brother of the bride.

Miss Bernardine Sullivan, organist, played the Lohengrin wedding march as the bridal party marched to the altar. Following the ceremony she played Mendelssohn's wedding march as the party left the church. Various selections were beautifully and softly played throughout the ceremony.

Following a wedding breakfast at the bride's home, Mr. and Mrs. Stalter left for a wedding trip through the east. Mrs. Stalter wearing an attractive traveling outfit of blue crepe satin with picture hat and accessories to harmonize. They will make their home in this city.

Mrs. Stalter is the daughter of Mrs. Mary E. Orians, 372 Hane-av. She attended St. Mary's High School and Marion Business College and has been employed in the clerk of courts' office at the Courthouse. Mr. Stalter is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Stalter of near Upper Sandusky. He is a graduate of Harpster High School, attended Ohio Wesleyan University and is a member of the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity. He is now employed with the signal division of the Pennsylvania Railroad of Hannah, Ind.

Out-of-the-city guests in attendance at the wedding and breakfast were Mrs. William Laudersicht, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Thiel, and Mr. and Mrs. George Stalter of Upper Sandusky, Mr. and Mrs. Moss Wastall and the Misses Jane and Alma Hempfling of Zanesville.

Correct the Cause to End Catarrh!

Doctors say that local applications aren't enough. To get rid of catarrh you must remove the cause. Catarrh is the result of inflamed mucous membranes—the delicate linings of nose, throat and head. These must be toned and strengthened and the inflammation reduced. Then catarrh disappears; bad breath and catarrhal deafness vanish. This is what Hall's Catarrh Medicine does. Its success has been proved by thousands.

Get Hall's Catarrh Medicine at your nearest druggist. He will tell you it is the most effective catarrh treatment he has known in over 40 years. If he is out of it send 35c to F. J. Cheney & Company, Toledo, Ohio.

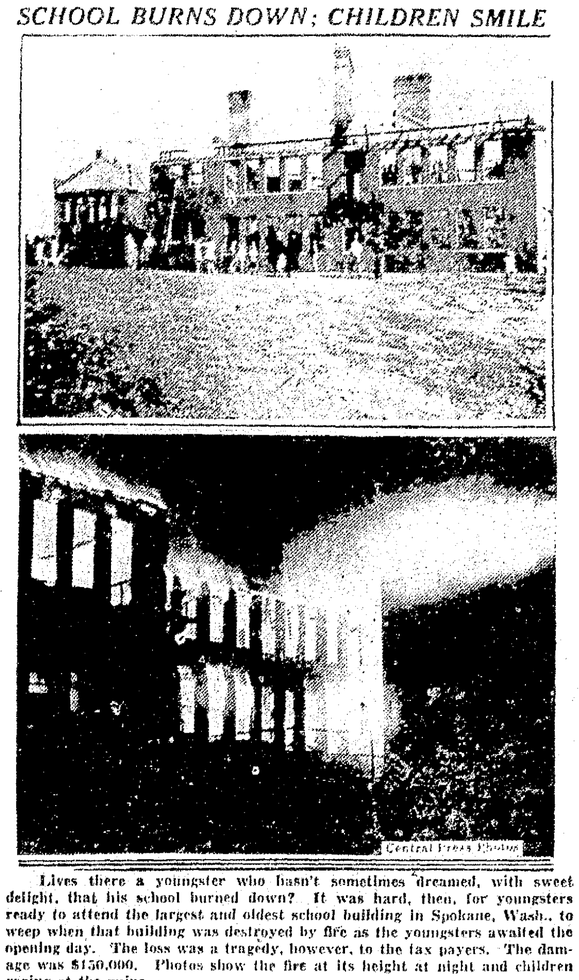
SCHOOL BURNS DOWN; CHILDREN SMILE



Central Press Photos

Lives there a youngster who hasn't sometimes dreamed, with sweet delight, that his school burned down? It was hard, then, for youngsters ready to attend the largest and oldest school building in Spokane, Wash., to weep when that building was destroyed by fire as the youngsters awaited the opening day. The loss was a tragedy, however, to the tax payers. The damage was $150,000. Photos show the fire at its height at night and children gazing at the ruins.

Swiss Steak—Pound as much flour into a cut of round steak, cut one and a half inches thick as it will take. Place heavy iron skillet on stove and brown steak in three tablespoons of fat. Salt and pepper to taste. Add two cups of water and simmer until tender, allowing water to cook down until thick. Serve with gravy, onion or tomato sauce.

Corn Beef Hash—Fry a minced onion and small minced green pepper in fat until brown. Add two cups of cold boiled potatoes, sliced, and one slice of corned beef, chopped. Add small amount of water, salt and pepper to taste. Mix well together. Brown nicely.

Devil's Food Cake—One cup granulated sugar, one and one-half cups flour, one tablespoon baking powder, three tablespoons cocoa, one-fourth teaspoon salt. Sift well together, then make hole in mixture and add one beaten egg, one-half cup sour milk, one heaping tablespoon lard, one-half cup boiling water with one level teaspoon of soda added. Beat well. Bake in two layers. Frost with boiled frosting.

Congregation of Israel To Hold Tabernacle Feast

Special services will be conducted by the Marion Congregation of Israel Wednesday evening in observance of Succoth, the Feast of Tabernacles at the Congregation's place of worship in the Marion National Bank Building. The program will be in charge of Henry Strelitz, head of the local Jewish organization.

The Feast of Tabernacles this year falls on Wednesday evening, Sept. 22 and Thursday, Sept. 23 and continues for seven days. The Wednesday evening program will be the only formal congregational observance in Marion.

As this feast day, one of the most important on the Jewish calender, commemorates events following the time that God led the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt, ceremonies are usually planned so that important parts in the program will be taken by the little folk. This feature is not possible in Marion this year, however, due to the fact that there are no small children in the Jewish families here.

Former Years

In former years the Jews of this city, as in other places, constructed booths at their places of worship and there were used for the children's part in the exercises. The Biblical law, as recorded in Leviticus, twenty-third chapter, verses 34 to 43, commands the Israelite to dwell in booths for seven days, commencing on the fifteenth day of the seventh month, to remind him that God caused the children of Israel to dwell in booths when He led them out of Egypt. The eighth day was ordained to be kept as "solemn assembly." This will be observed on Wednesday and the Thursday following, September 29 and 30.

The custom of dwelling in temporary huts or booths is not only to remind the Israelite of the wanderings of his ancestors in the wilderness, but also to recall to his mind that God has kept him throughout the year amidst all of life's uncertainities.

In many cities the festival has of late been used to encourage charity. Fruits of the field are taken to places of worship as a sign of thanks and after the services are sent to hospitals or the poor of the city.

He said, without preamble, "Oh, good God, but they turn my stomach! Look at them, will you, Yvonne? Just look at 'em!"

Yvonne looked, and perceived nothing but the usual diners, the usual drinkers, the usual dancers, neither better nor worse than they usually were. She looked back at Jock again. His dark glance brooded over the room and his lips were twisted to sneer.

"It's enough to make you sick!" he went on savagely. "Damn' swine! Look at the way they paw each other, and kiss each other, and leer unspeakable rottenness out of their eyes! 'Children of disobedience.' That's from the Episcopal prayer book, and I've remembered it since prep school, and lately every time I look around this hole I think of it. ' . . . lust, evil concupiscence . . . for which things' sake the wrath of God falleth on the children of disobedience. When—if I ever write a book that'll be the title, and it'll be all about people like these—"

Yvonne was silent, running her fingers up and down the stem of her water goblet. Presently Jock resumed speaking. "To tell the truth," he said in a somewhat mollified tone, "I guess it's not so much that I'm sore at the Tavern as that I'm sore at myself. I have been ever since the night they started flinging money. That was the night I began to see just what a caricature of a real he-man I look like. First year out of college—year of laying a lifetime's cornerstone, it ought to be—and what did I do with it? And what did I allow you to do?" He indicated the surroundings with a sweep of his hand, and his scowl deepened. "Fine!" he finished witheringly. "Most laudable! Jock Hamill, the human jellyfish!"

Another lull. Yvonne lit a cigarette and eyed its slender upward twirl of bluish smoke. Jock dug his hands into his pockets, seeming by this gesture to pull his whole long body lower in the chair. His eyes focused themselves on a bar pin fastened to the bodice of Yvonne's gown, but she knew he was not thinking of the bar pin.

"Now you take Cecily," he said. "The poor kid looks up to me as if I were her father or somebody. She does everything I tell her. And who the hell am I? That's the point. I've got a sweet nerve to be advising her what to do and what not to do, when all I rate is a rag-picking old job in a low-life—"

"Jock Hamill, let's leave tonight."

Jock had been so engrossed in his diatribe that he had almost forgotten Yvonne. Now, with her interruption, he appeared to bethink himself of her. His face softened. "I'm sorry, honey! I've got you all upset, haven't I?"

"No, that's not it. But I see how you feel, and since you do feel that way why should we stay on here two weeks more? You'll only hate it. Let's go find August and tell him we're quitting right now, don't you want to?"

Jock shook his head. "I've thought that all over, but it won't do. Bum trick on the old boy—he's been pretty good to us in his way. We agreed to hang on till the first of February, I suppose we'd better stick to our word.

"Don't look so worried!" he added, laughing at her. "I can stand it all right! I've stood it an awful lot of weeks already, remember, and thought it was hot stuff."

"You did, didn't you? You enjoyed it for awhile?"

"Sure I did! You know that."

Yvonne changed the subject abruptly. "Tell me about this afternoon."

(Cruel the swift light of his face!) "We went up to mother's to lunch," he said, "and you should have seen mother and Cecily! They hit it off from the word go."

"I knew they would," said Yvonne.

"Well, they did! Chattered away, and giggled—I felt like an old man with a couple of high school daughters. Had such a time getting them apart that Cecily and I were half an hour late to the matinee. Say, the show was good, too." He paused, regarding Yvonne. "Shame you missed it, honey."

"I'm sorry too. But I simply had to go to the hairdresser's, as I told you. I needed all sorts of things done to me."

"You look great. Well, after the show we went to the Ambassador and had tea and danced, and got to talking about the books I picked out for her. She's read them all already, though when she gets time I can't imagine because between Bill Burnholme and the rest of her string, not to mention yours truly the nurse, she's busy all the time—"

"Have you found out whether she's really engaged to Bill?"

"Nope. Little devil won't say yes or no."

"I don't think she is," opined Yvonne. "And even if she should be, it probably won't pan out. About one girl in a hundred ever marries her first fiance."

"She could do a lot worse, though," Jock said generously. "Bill's a good boy. I like him better every time I see him. Well, anyway, as I was saying: Cecily's comments on those books—I wish you could have heard 'em, Yvonne! Clever as they could be. If it had been any one else I'd have thought she was plagiarizing from some big critic's book reviews, but not Cecily. Everything she said was original, you could tell that, and it was great dope. She had me humping. I can tell you."

"She does sort of stimulate your mind, doesn't she?" Yvonne said, making the "your" impersonal.

"You bet it's the truth!" agreed Jock vigorously.

I have to look out or this'll be one of those pathetic cases of pupil telling teacher where to get off. She's got no mean head there, let me say, for all it looks so frivolous."

Yvonne took a little sip of water and set the goblet down carefully. "You know," she remarked, "sometimes it occurs to me that Cecily is the kind of a girl you should have married—would have, if I hadn't come along."

As she voiced this, quite without appearing to, she watched Jock so narrowly that she felt her eyes burn in their sockets. But she could detect nothing in his face except surprise and instant repudiation.

"Don't be silly," he advised, and smiled easily, as though he had said something humorous.

Yvonne thought. "No, not that way. It's got to be more drastic than that. He isn't on to himself yet, and even if he were his conscience wouldn't let him listen to reason." . . .

"Two more weeks—isn't very long," is it?" she mused aloud, with what might have been irrelevance.

IV

"Am I being Yvonne tomorrow," commanded Peg over the telephone.

"Absolutely will."

But when the receiver was back on its hook Jock said to himself: "No, I won't. I'll take Cecily."

True to their word, Peg and Johnny Havens had summoned him to their home in Washington Square very soon after the November day when they had had tea together; and he had been there often since. He loved to go there. Peg amused him always, Johnny he was enormously fond of, and their host of friends he found exactly to his taste. There was a special brand of informality about the Havens' parties. Everyone was expected to do just what he pleased in that apartment, and did so. People came if, and when, they wanted to, entertained themselves according to dictates of their fancies, and departed at such time as they saw fit. They danced, and sang, and stirred weird concoctions on the kicthenette range, and played stud poker on the dining room table, and made light love in the hall, and laughed . . . Nowhere under the sun, Jock thought, was there ever quite so much laughter. Into this environment he had taken Yvonne one afternoon around Chirstmas time, and he was left with a distressing belief that the experiment had not been successful. Yvonne had been an onlooker, not a participant; and the crowd resented onlookers, however lovely and gracious on the ground that they "crabbed a party." The fun had been rather subdued that day, and Jock had known why and been both grieved and disappointed. He had felt that in this small but somehow not trival matter, Yvonne had completely failed him.

Cecily would not fail him. She was fundamentally adapted to just that sort of thing.

He reached for the 'phone again with a view to calling Peg back and announcing the substitution, but thought better of it. "No use," he reflected. "They don't care who I bring, and anyway I'm going to see Johnny at lunch—"

It was the last Friday in January, and the luncheon engagement was a business one. Johnny's father was to be present, for the purpose of ascertaining whether or not he agreed with his son that Jock would prove an asset to the paper owned by him, the New York Log. A matter of form only; Jock was as good as hired, sight unseen. But he did not know this, and the meeting seemed to him crucial and precarious. He dressed for it with vast attention to detail, and, in the conviction that the first requirement of a reporter was punctuality, reached the appointed place on the stroke of one—and waited half an hour.

While he waited, he planned the diniogue to come. "Then he'll say" . . . "Then I'll say" . . . He examined his watch at minute intervals, and once he held it to his ear. As one-thirty approached he was assailed by a panicky suspicion that Mr. Havens had declined to present himself after all. In fancy he saw Mr. Havens, a sort of Johnny-grown-old with a beard and a belly, pounding his fist on a pile of newspapers and roaring, "Why should I waste my time?"

Why, indeed? Jock could think of no good reason, and it began to seem to him that his merq presence here in expectation of the Great was most presumptious.

But Mr. Havens came, and was not ostentatiously Great at all, but quite human. You felt at once that he enjoyed cards and horse races, that he commanded a supply of excellent stories, and that he had a cellar full of bottles with cobwebs upon them. That type of man.

He was of medium height, thick set, with an abundance of graying hair a square strong face, and at once the shrewdest and jolliest eyes Jock had ever seen. He spoke in an abbreviated way, as though before presenting each sentence he mentally blue-penciled it to the bone. "Late," he said, pumping Jock's hand. "Kept waiting. Couldn't help it. How're you? Glad to know you."

Nor was the ensuing meal at all as Jock had thought it would be. Almost to the end of it, business remained unmentioned. He himself dared not introduce the issue, Johnny would not, and Mr. Haven appeared much more interested in the information that Jock had once played the Valleydale course in two below par than in the fact that he wanted a job. They talked golf until dessert.

"Have to have a round together," Mr. Haven remarked at last, "spring comes."

Jock said, truthfully, that he would like that very much. "But you'll probably beat me ten-up, sir," he added smiling. "I've hardly had a club in my hands since I left college, and I never was any great shakes. That Valleydale score Johnny told you about was an accident."

"Haven't been playing?"

"No sir."

"Why not. No time?"

Jock hesitated, and Johnny supplied the answer. "No inclination. Tread softly, dad, the boys' in love."

Mr. Havens elevated an eyebrow at Jock. "Fact?"

"I'm going to be married about the last of next month."

"Good!" said Mr. Havens. "Means you'll take hold: look at Johnny. Engaged, perfectly useless. Wrench in the wheels of Progress. Sat and mooned from morn till eve. Marriage made all the difference. Now look at him, works like a steer."

"First time you've ever admitted it," Johnny muttered.

His father ignored this. "When can you start?" he shot at Jock.

"Monday, sir."

Mr. Havens jerked his head in manifestation of approval. "Come 'round. Ten a. m. My office. What do you want, anyway? Business end? News end? What?"

"News," said Jock with emphasis.

"Ever done any writing?"

"Just at college. Of course that doesn't mean anything. But I think I can, Mr. Havens."

"Damn right, he can!" put in Johnny. "I've read some of the stuff my brother-in-law sent Peg in the olden days. He's got more literary ability than any staff man ever needed. Also personality, guts and everything else you'd want."

"This your press agent?" grinned Mr. Havens, pointing a thumb at his son.

"Seems to be," Jock said, also grinning.

"Well, we'll try you, see if he's right."

Which was all there was to it. They parted soon after; the Havens, pere et fils, to return whence they had come; Jock to rush into the nearest telephone booth, demand his mother's number, and say in a voice which he vainly strove to control, "Hello! Mrs. Madeline Hamill. A reporter from the Log speaking" . . .

Quicksands of Love

BY ADELE GARRISON

THE speech for which I vainly had been waiting from Dicky's lips had come at last, but though I knew that he was masking his jealous anger behind an appearance of friendly concern for my welfare, I was not prepared for the unpleasant allusion which he had used in saying that Philip Veritzen had a "regular Don Juan reputation on Broadway."

I stiffened in my chair, and looked at him steadily.

"I fail to understand you," I said.

"Oh! yes, you do," he returned grimly, and I saw that he was letting loose the leash upon his temper which he before had held tightly.

"There is a legend upon Broadway, where he is called th most fascinating man of its whole length, that no woman whom he cared to woo has ever been able to resist him. He has a notable number of broken hearts to his account, but he himself is termed a 'ten-minute egg' as far as feminine wiles are concerned. He has been angled, for by experts, too, but he always——"

"I beg your pardon," I said icily, "but you are inferring that I am 'angling' for him or that I shall not be able to resist him if he 'cares to woo' me, or that my heart is in danger of being broken? If so, let me tell you——"

"I am not Jealous"

Dicky had the grace to redden. As usual, he had let his temper run away from him and said things which he would have scorned to utter in calmer moments.

"What rot!" he said. "And, of course, it would take you to twist things that way. You probably are thinking that I am jealous,"—this very loftily indeed, "but I can assure you that I am not, nor have I any fear that you will fall for Veritzen. You're too much of an iceberg, old dear, to lose your head over any man even me."

Did I imagine it, or was there a touch of bitterness in his tone? Faintly there sounded in the ears of my memory other occasions upon which he had hurled at me the same accusation of coldness. I felt a sudden softening of my rancor, a tugging at my heart-strings, but his next words put all tender thoughts to flight.

"You Aren't Sophisticated"

"But, you have a most colossal vanity," Dicky went on smiling, as if he were uttering an acceptable jest, "and you aren't particularly sophisticated, so I suppose it appears to you quite a feather in our cap for Philip Veritzen, the most famous man on Broadway, to invite you out to lunch, to hang upon your lightest word, as he was doing today, and to permit the sisterly browbeating which you were giving him as I came up."

I rose from my chair abruptly.

"Have you quite finished?" I asked, white with anger.

Dicky rose also and towered above me.

"No, I haven't he returned, "far from what I saw today it's time I took a hand. I don't know how long these luncheon parties a deux have been going on, but Edi—"

He stopped abruptly and had the grace to look abashed. I caught my breath in comprehension and reconsidered my impulse to leave the room.

"So that is it," I said slowly. "Edith has taken it upon herself to report to you as to my doings, has she?"

"No, she hasn't," he retorted roughly, but his eyes did not meet mine. "She simply happened to be lunching in that restaurant the other day—"

"And promptly engineered your going there today," I finished wearily. "Please spare me the rest of it."

HUSBAND DID THE WASHING

His Wife Confined to Her Bed by Ill Health

Because of his wife's frequent ill health, Mr. J. F. Gage was obliged to do the washing and cooking for the family.

One day when Mrs. Gage was confined to her bed, he brought her the newspaper to read. Among the advertisements she noticed a letter from another sick woman telling of the help she had received from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"I'll try it," she decided.

Her husband brought home a bottle and only a few days after she had begun to take it she felt well enough to be up around the house. Gradually her general health improved until she is now able to do her own work.

In a letter which Mrs. Gage recently wrote, she said, "I have taken twelve bottles and feel like a new woman." She has told many women about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and one of her friends is now taking it. Her address is Mrs. J. F. Gage, Route 5, Brownwood, Texas.

Dandruffy Heads Become Hairless

If you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. Four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff falls.—Adv

FOR Acid Stomach PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia

Instead of soda hereafter take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

BETTER THAN SODA

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. Besides, it neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges this souring waste from the system without purging. It is far more pleasant to take than soda.

TRY A 25c BOTTLE

Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent and fifty cent bottles, any drug-store. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.—Adv.

AMERICAN EXPRESS COMPANY DRIVER NOW ABLE TO HANDLE HEAVY FREIGHT WITH EASE

Credits New Found Strength to Tepee Herb Tonic; Never Felt Better

To use a common expression, driving a truck for the American Express Company is no "cinch" even for the strongest man and when the driver is afflicted with stomach trouble such work is doubly hard.

The above remarks were brought out in an interview with Mrs. Lucas Deyer, 2184 E. Eightieth St., Cleveland, in which she told how her husband had been benefitted by the use of Tepee Herb Tonic.

She says, "My husband tells me he is feeling so good that he can handle heavy freight a great deal easier than he could before he took Tepee Herb Tonic.

"Before my husband started to use Tepee he hadn't been feeling well for several weeks. While he kept right on working, he said he could hardly drag himself around. His stomach bothered him and he was constipated.

"His food soured on his stomach and often particles of undigested food would come up into his throat and mouth and nearly nauseate him.

"I saw Tepee Herb Tonic advertised and I got a bottle for him. Since taking it he feels like a new man. He says he is not troubled with constipation and from the way he eats I surely know that his stomach is in much better condition.

"He don't have that tired "all in" look that he had before he took Tepee Herb Tonic.

"I am glad to indorse this medicine because of the benefits my husband derived from its use."

If you don't feel well try Tepee Herb Tonic. It has relieved others and it will also relieve you.

Tepee Herb Tonic may be had in Marion at Bradley's, Heaney & Cooper's, Wm. M. Stump, Bartlett's, and all drug stores: Richwood, H. D. Kyle.—Adv.

This is the nationally approved table salt

When it rains —it pours.

A small amount of Iodine is almost as essential to life as air or water. According to high medical authorities, normal health without Iodine is impossible.

Goiter is the most common symptom of the lack of Iodine in the daily food and water supply, but there are many others not so noticeable.

Years of scientific experiments have proven the value of adding a small amount of Iodine to the daily diet. Too much is dangerous—too little, useless.

Morton's Iodized Salt is made under the supervision of competent chemists. Each package is guaranteed to contain the exact amount recommended; that is why health authorities everywhere recommend its use.

Nature's Iodine has been restored in a convenient and economical form for you to use. Do not risk disease for yourself or family.

HARDING HIGH HOLDING SHOOL LIBRARY CLASSES

Students Are Instructed in Use of Books by Miss Etta Jacoby

Classes in instruction as to the use of the High School library are being held daily at Harding High School under the supervision of Miss Etta Jacoby, librarian. The classes are composed almost entirely of Sophomores.

A set of rules governing the library are issued to each student in the classes.

No new books have been purchased by the school board since the last school term. More than 60 books have been rebound.

About 3,000 books are in the library at the present time. Of this number about 900 are fiction and the remainder on essays, science, biographies and other books in connection with the instruction books used in the high school.

The total number of books loaned to students last year amounted to about the same each month. More than 200 books daily were loaned to the students several times last year, according to Miss Jacoby.

The general aim of the library is to supplement the city library in providing books for the students and develop reading material on the various school subjects.

While the city library has but one copy of each book, the school library keeps several copies of all books for study.

According to Ervin H. Shade, science instrutor at Harding High School, the library is most complete in the references for physics.

Some charity begins at home but the best brand is directed toward the homeless.

PLEASANT SCHOOL OPENS WITH 355 ENROLLED

Eighty More Students, Including 61 from Children's Home, Attending This Year

Enrollment of pupils in Pleasant Township School today totaled 355 boys and girls. These figures are only temporary and are subject to change within the next few days, school officials said today.

Last year the enrollment was only 275. The addition of 61 children from Marion County Children's Home accounts for the great difference in number attending classes at the Pleasant Township building, officials pointed out.

Even with the elimination of the extra pupils, however, the enrollment this year shows an increase of 19 names.

Pleasant Township School, due to the construction of a new building, did not open until yesterday for the school year.

VAST TOTAL OF U. S. COIN USED IN CHILE

$350,000,000 Invested in South American Country, Government Reports

Washington, Sept. 21—America's financial investment in the Latin American country of Chile is conservatively estimated by the department of commerce at $350,000,000.

"The enormous increase in this investment since the war is strikingly shown by a survey just completed by the department," officials said.

"For every inhabitant of Chile there is about $90 of American money invested in that country."

Attraction of American capital to Chile is a development of comparatively recent years, according to the department. Up to 1908 American investments totalled less than $25,000,000, these representing principally the activities of a few American trading companies in manufacturing and other industry.

"In 1908," the statement said, "American interests began to go heavily into the mining industry and from that time on our investments have exceeded those of any other country."

Great Britain and United States at the present time equally share the investment in the industry of Chile. Investments of the two countries, however, have taken radically different directions, according to the department's survey.

"The British have gone in for government bonds, railway development, and the nitrate industry," an official said.

SUMMIT COUNTY KLAN'S EXISTENCE THREATENED

Akron, Sept. 21—A legal battle, which threatens to disrupt the Ku Klux Klan in Summit County, was launched here today. Common Pleas Judge S. D. Kenfield issued an injunction restraining Imperial Wizard H. W. Evans and other officers of the klan from interfering with the proposed transfer of the local charter and funds to the Protestant Service League.

A majority of the local group had voted to return its charter as a protest against the removal of its former head, Dr. W. K. Smith, and to place $54,062 in assets in trust with the service league.

Another faction, led by Frank Cox, new cyclops, seeks use of the money.

BANDIT FLEES AS OWNER OF MILL ENTERS OFFICE

Newark, Sept. 21—When A. P. Vorhees, proprietor of the Hebron Flouring Mills Co., entered the plant offices here, he was confronted with a revolver in the hand of a masked man. The bandit fled, however, leaping from a window and escaping in an auto. The license number was taken, but the car was found abandoned a short distance away.

Two hundred dollrs in the safe was untouched although the door had been opened.

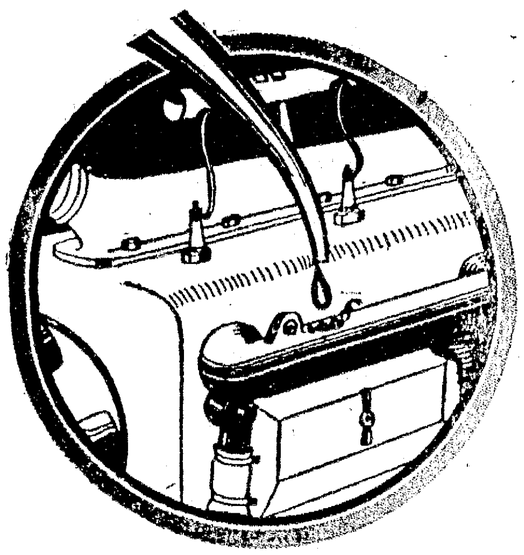
BRUTALITY CHARGES TO BE TAKEN TO GOVERNOR

Youngstown, Sept. 21—Charges that prisoners in the Canfon Workhouse have been subjected to brutalities "reminiscent of the dark ages," are to be taken before Governor Donahey and the State Welfare Department according to Judge Joseph L. Hefferman, of Municipal Court, here.

With numerous affidavits alleging brutal treatment already secured, Judge Hefferman in his investigation, the court has ordered no more prisoners be allocated to the Stark County institution.

MAKE THIS 2 MINUTE TEST



You Can Be Sure of Getting Lubrication!

IN two minutes you can prove the whole thing—right in your own car by means of a very simple little test.

Obtain samples of various lubricating oils of equal weight or body,—including Tiolene Motor Oil. For instance, if you are using medium bodied oil, get samples branded "medium".

Then run single drops of each onto the hot exhaust manifold of your motor.

Watch results. That's all. But note how remarkably the drop of Tiolene outlasts the others—because it can and does withstand heat.

That's the problem—nothing more, nothing less. For almost any oil could lubricate properly if there were no heat to be combated. But your running motor is a furnace of terrific heats where Tiolene goes on lubricating long after other oils crack, break-down and burn.

Short Sayings of Famous Men

No way has been found for making heroism easy, even for the scholar. Labor, iron labor, is for him. The world was created as an audience for him; the atoms of which it is made are opportunities.

YOUNG WOMAN RECOVERS FROM SUICIDE ATTEMPT

Mrs. Cora Hopkins, 20, Forsaker, Swallows Dose of Paris Green

Kenton, Sept. 21—Mrs. Cora Hopkins, 20, Forsaker, is recovering in the Antonio hospital here after having eaten a large quantity of Paris green in an alleged suicide attempt Monday.

Attending physicians declared today that the young lady would recover from the effects of the poison. It is believed that the quick action of members of the family in administering antidotes saved her life.

The unconscious form was found sprawled across the bed by the mother-in-law who became alarmed over the continued absence of the young woman. Quickly summoning workers in an onion field nearby first aid was administered and a physician summoned.

Mrs. Hopkins only recently came to the Scioto marsh regions, west of here, from Kentucky, to work in the onion fields.

Upon regaining consciousness she told hospital attendants that she "didn't know" why she took the poison and that she "wanted to live."

GALION HIGH GRIDDERS DEFEAT CRESTLINE TEAM

Eaton Coached Lads Show Offensive and Defensive Prowess in Season's Opener

Galion, Sept. 21—The Galion High School football team won their first game of the season by defeating the Crestline team by the score of 10-0 on the home field.

The first quarter was scoreless, the ball being carried back and forth the field on punts. Galion, however, kept gaining ground on the punts so that early in the second quarter the Orange men were able to score their first touchdown of the season. The touchdown was made by R. Zinn.

As the second half began, on the second play with Galion in possession of the ball, R. Zinn caught a pass and ran 60 yards for his second touchdown of the game.

Crestline was no closer than 35 yards from Galion goal line, proving that the Orange and Blue defense was very well built.

Due to the fact that two of Galion's men were out of the line up, Jack Young, heady quarterback, and Ralph Cohen, star tackle, the team showed great form for the first game. D. (Little) Korsh filled the position of quarterback for the first time and showed great headwork. Capt. Cutchall played a real game at fullback, making many gains through the line. D. (Big) Korsh and R. Zinn both played good games on the defense and making large gains on end runs.

The line played a good defensive game, stopping line plunges and opening holes on the offense.

Next Saturday the Orangemen will battle with Ashland for the first league game of the season. It is expected that Coach Eaton will put his men through a very difficult workout through the week.

KENTON PEOPLE IN STORM AREA REPORTED SAFE

Hardin County Chapter American Red Cross Prepares To Send Aid

Kenton, Sept. 21—The Hardin County Chapter of the American Red Cross today began marshaling its forces to aid in the relief work in the storm devastated regions of Florida.

Co-operating with chapters throughout the country and in an appeal issued late Monday the chapter officials called upon the citizens of the city and county to aid and contribute to the relief movement.

Relief work here is being directed by Lilas B. McFarland county service officer, and Mrs. Mary B. Mathews, chapter secretary.

Although many former Hardin county people or relatives of local citizens were in the districts swept by the hurricane none of them were injured, a survey late Monday revealed.

Several of them, however, experienced narrow escapes messages said. R. S. Heath, his wife and two children, escaped from their home just a few seconds before the structure was destroyed by the winds and floods, according to word received by the brother, Warren Heath, of this city. They took refuge in Palm Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Haddox, until recently residents here made their escape with difficulty from the Belford Hotel, Miami where Mr. Haddox is manager. "We barely escaped Mrs. Haddox wired her sister, Mrs. William Cowen here. "The roof of the Belford was torn off and the windows shattered. We have been without sleep for three days. Many are homeless and there is little to eat."

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Hessberger, Wayne street, received word that their daughter, Mrs. Ida Burden and husband, escaped injury at Ft. Lauderdale. Mrs. Hessberger had planned leaving for Ft. Lauderdale last week, but for some reason postponed her visit until the first of October.

BELIEVE ROAD SECTION HAS ACCIDENT "HOODOO"

Three Crashes Reported Over Week-End at Sharp Curve Near Somerville

Marysville, Sept. 21—Three more auto crashes are credited to a sharp turn in the Kenton-pk. north of Somerville. This makes a total of 27 automobiles that have been reported for this "hoodoo" spot in Union County. All of these have been reported within the past several months.

At about one o'clock Sunday afternoon a man enroute to Tennessee in a heavy type car crashed into another occupied by people from Columbus. All were injured to some extent, several being taken to the Kenton hospital.

A short time later, two Fords collided at the same spot. Both cars were damaged but no one was hurt.

About midnight a Ford touring car, occupied by several colored men from Columbus struck another car near the same place injuring one of the occupants to such an extent that he had to be taken to a hospital in Columbus.

Various remedies have been suggested for this ill fated stretch of road and it is quite probable that the County Commissioners will take some action in changing the course of the road at this place if accidents continue to happen there.

SCHOOL EXHIBIT IS INNOVATION OF EXPOSITION

Two Events for Professional Horses and Ford Race On Speed Program

Kenton, Sept. 21—With a record number of displays and exhibits entered in every department, Hardin county's annual agricultural exposition will formally open here Wednesday, continuing three days.

Unless unfavorable weather intervenes officials of the County Agricultural Society, sponsors of the fair, expressed the belief that attendance records this season would be shattered.

Throughout today farmers and townspeople from every section of the county were arranging their displays of live stock, farm produce and poultry while the merchants and manufacturers were placing their exhibits or merchandise.

With more than $7,000 being offered as premiums and prizes, competition this fall is exceptionally keen, Ralph E. Pugh, fair secretary stated. Unusually heavy entries have been listed for practically every department.

Judging is to start Wednesday and will be completed by Thursday evening under the direction of a competent corps of judges. They are: J. S. Koffy, Ohio State University, Columbus, horses and hogs; P. B. Turnbull, Cedarville, president of the National Association of Live Stock Judges, cattle and sheep; Mrs. W. L. Barger, Urbana, member of State Board of Agriculture and State fair director, granges and agriculture exhibits, and F. M. Pierce, Bowling Green, poultry.

An innovation this year is the Hardin County school display in which every city and rural school has entered displays of its respective students. An entire fair building has been given over to this new department. The individual granges and the vocational classes also have special showings. Unusually attractive and interesting are the display booths of the merchants and auto dealers.

The speed program for the opening day includes a five mile auto race for Fords, a pace for professional horses and a pace or trot for horses having a marked record. An old time fiddlers' contest in which fiddlers from Hardin and surrounding counties have entered, will be one of the features of the Thursday program.

After spending the night in the top of a tree to escape the furies of flood and hurricane, Mrs. Paul Wiedenbohn of Terrebonne parish, Louisiana, was forced to yield to her pet aversion and have her hair bobbed. The strands had become so entangled in the treetop that her husband had to break most of them to free her.

FELT LIKE NO MEDICINE WOULD REACH HIS CASE

But Dillingham's Plant Juice Brought Him Wonderful Relief, This Canton, O., Man Declares.

"I'll always recommend Dillingham's Plant Juice, because this medicine seems to do the work when everything else fails," says Geo. R. Anderson, 116 S. Clarendon Ave., Canton, O., machinist and tool worker for a large manufacturing concern.

I would suffer with constipation the rest of my life, but fortunately a friend told me about Plant Juice, and I tried it. Well, the results are that for the past twelve months I haven't taken a laxative of any kind, as my bowels are regular as clockwork and my whole system has been freed from the toxic poisons, as I don't know what it is to have a headache now or be sick to my stomach.

"Why, I used to be in such condition it seemed like I was beyond the reach of medicine. I'd have severe backache and be so dizzy at times I'd have to stop work and sit in a chair till the attack passed off.

"Sometime at night I'd wake up with pains in my stomach and a hot, acid liquid would flow from my mouth. Then I'd have vomiting spells that strained and weakened me so I couldn't work.

"Well, I can eat three good meals every day now, work all the overtime I want and then get out with my family for an enjoyable time. Before I took Plant Juice I was too sick and worn-out to even enjoy a movie. It certainly brought me wonderful relief."

Plant Juice is sold in Marion by Bradley's Drug Store and by all leading druggists everywhere.—Adv.

Cleveland's Hopes Blasted When Red Sox Win, Reds Stunned By Braves 2 Wins

St. Louis Leads Cincinnati by Two Games; New York Blows Up with Three Game Lead Over Indians But Only Needs Three More

New York, Sept. 21—Boston's baseball clubs today are the champion stumbling blocks of the big leagues. The Braves handed the Reds a terrific jolt yesterday by beating them twice, while the Red Sox defeated Cleveland and prevented the Indians from gaining valuable ground.

St. Louis leads Cincinnati by two full games this morning. The Reds must gain one game on the leaders during their next four contests to be able to tie the Cardinals by beating them in the last game of the season.

The Yankees, faltering badly, lost two games to the White Sox, but lead Cleveland by three games. If the Yanks win three of their remaining six games, the Indians can do no better than tie them.

The Braves put a terrific crimp in Cincinnati's pennant hopes by downing the Reds twice, 4 to 3, and 3 to 0, putting Cincinnati two games behind the Cardinals.

Rixey was beaten by errors, while Bob Smith had the Reds at his mercy in the nightcap.

The stumbling Yankees dropped two games to the White Sox, 7 to 3, and 4 to 3, and now lead the Indians by only three games. Pennock was hit hard in the opener. Mensel lost the second game by playing ping-pong with the ball after muffing a fly.

The White Sox now are only two games behind the Athletics, in third place.

Bratche's single in the tenth enabled the Red Sox to nose out Cleveland, 3 to 2. Speaker tied the score with a homer in the ninth, but his mates couldn't touch Wingfield.

The Senators copped two from the Browns, 7 to 4, and 8 to 2, and advanced to within half a game of Philadelphia. Joe Harris hit two homers.

After Rommel blanked the Tigers, 8 to 0, in the opener, allowing only two hits, the Athletics lost to the Tigers, 5 to 2.

The Giants had a relapse and lost two games to the Cubs, 4 to 2, and 2 to 1.

Pittsburgh, with an outside chance to finish second, blanked the Phils, 4 to 0, as Joe Bush turned in a two-hit performance.

"HAIR-GROOM"

Keeps Hair Combed, Glossy Well-Groomed all Day

"Hair-Groom" is a dignified combing cream which costs only a few cents a jar at any drug store. Millions use it because it gives that natural gloss and well-groomed effect to the hair — that final touch to good dress both in business and on social occasions. Even stubborn, unruly or shampooed hair stays combed all day in any style you like. "Hair-Groom" is greaseless; also helps grow thick, heavy, lustrous hair.—Adv.

FOOTBALL STAR STARTS TO TRAIN ON ERIE TRACKS

O. S. U. Tackle Arrives from Kenton for Heavy Railroad Work

Bill Young, sophomore and star left tackle last year at Ohio State University, arrived in Marion early this morning from his home east of Kenton to enter upon the duties of railroading. Last year about this time Bill was entering his football togs and entering some studies at the university where he plans to be again next fall.

Bill is one of those fast workers both on the gridiron and in business.

He arrived in this city from Kenton Saturday and in exactly 20 minutes he had a job with the Erie Railroad company and was ready to return home in his 1926 model Fliver. It's a speedy one, too, according to Bill's friends.

Well now Bill will stay in Marion and work at the Erie Railroad company's roundhouse where he plans to carry car wheels and engines around (instead of ice) until he can get back to school.

Marion has a number of college and professional football stars and it is regretful indeed that a local football team is not being organized just to allow the boys a little recreation. When not too busy Bill will be glad to meet any of his acquaintances and friends.

Dempsey Will Appear With Real Show Troop Thursday

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

Philadelphia, Sept. 21—When Jess Willard stepped into the ring at Toledo, he was a man absolutely on his own with a couple of seconds who were more like thirds and a business manager who had hinges in his neck from saying: "Yes."

It may or may not be significant, but the fact remains that our Mr. Dempsey is going into the ring on Thursday night with the most singular collection of handlers that ever handicapped a fighter.

They are, rated in the order of their importance, Jerry Luvadis, a Greek who knows three words of English and uses them once each year; Gene Normile, a race track man who can tell you how a race should be run, but not how a fight should be fought; Gus Wilson, a French chef who says he is a trainer, and one captain Mabbutt, a fat man who will be coming into the ring for the first round when the second is over.

I can't think of a more inept combination. Neither can Dempsey, according to reports. They said today that he was considering hiring Philadelphia Jack O'Brien as a second and Philadelphia Jack was right the last time they used nail files for tooth brushes.

It also was said that Dempsey was considering Doc Bagley for this role. The doc is a good man in spite of the fact that he once managed Tunney. The doctor thought better of it. Willard was a goof. He thought he knew so much about the racket that he would be handicapped by an excess of mentality in his immediate corner. Therefore, he dispensed with mentality and made up for it with numbers. It was a swell idea but the execution was terrible. A good, clear thinker second in Willard's corner might have saved the title for him that day after the first punch on the jaw had rendered him non-plus ultra or something. Dempsey, it is understood, has informed his prospective handlers that he wants to fight this fight his own way with no interference from his corner. That, also, is a swell idea, except for the fact that one might as well ask Pooley Hubert for no interference as to expect that mob of near-saps to render aid, succor and assistance when all three are demanded at one and the same time.

That fat captain will be waddling around, the French chef must be there to do the extra cook to spoil the broth, the Chicago and New York detective sergeants, four strong, will be on hand to see that the champion is not approached by a guest without a waiting garment or any other, and a French attache who never backed a winner will be among those present for no reason at all.

With this array, it isn't surprising that Dempsey was casting about for a practical boxing man who knows his victuals. He has had sufficient warning from the over-confident Willard, who would have given a half million dollars for an ounce of brains in his corner rather than pound off punch in his glove at Toledo.

MENDEL TAILORS CANCEL SUNDAY GAME WITH CLUB

Akron Swinehart Tires Are Returning for Another Game

The Mendel Tailors have cancelled their game with Marion, scheduled for Sunday. The Federation of Baseball Clubs of Columbus has insisted that the Mendels play off the city elimination series Sunday and the Sunday following. The management of the Mendel team tried to have the elimination series postponed or played on some other day than Sunday, but the directors of the federation were obdurate. The Mendels would have furnished a good attraction for Marion baseball fans, and would like to come here later in the season, but after the Columbus elimination series has been played off, baseball weather will be a thing of the past.

As soon as Manager Baron got word that the Mendels positively would not be here, he got in touch with Manager Elliott of the Swinehart Tires, the team which put up two good games here Sunday, after much persuasion got their agreement to come back next Sunday for another game. It is certain that any fan who saw last Sunday's games will be on hand when the Swinehearts return next Sunday. While the Athletic followers would like to see Marion pitted against the team that has forged its way to the city elimination series in Columbus, they are sure that they would not see a better game than will be played by the Akron team.

Manager Elliott says that he may strengthen for next Sunday's game, but he is not sure that this will be necessary. He told Baron over the phone that Ewing mourned the loss of the second game all the way back to Akron Sunday night, and that he regretted that he would not get another chance at Marion this year. So it is more than possible that Ewing will start the game against Marion Sunday.

LOCAL OFFICIALS MEETING TONIGHT

Official Bacon Will Report Ohio Meeting at Columbus

Members of the Marion Officials Association will hold their weekly meeting at 7:30 o'clock this evening at Francis Bacon at the Marion Steam Shovel Company's office, W. Center st. The meeting will be held on the second floor of the employment office.

Officials are meeting tonight instead of last night because Mr. Bacon was called to Columbus to attend a joint meeting of Ohio Officials and Ohio Conference coaches and team representatives.

Marion County coaches, players, fans and all others interested in any division of sport activities are invited to attend tonight's meeting at the Steam Shovel Company's plant.

CHANCE TO GET FIGHT TICKETS

Boxing fans contemplating witnessing the Dempsey-Tunney championship contest in Philadelphia Thursday night and who haven't secured their tickets may do so at Columbus now.

J. F. Morgan of the Big Four ticket office, 18 N. Third-st, announced last night that he has a block of seats left. He added that more fans can be accommodated on the special train.

WELSH CRIPPLE IS CHAMP

Leslie Palmer, 17 years old and a cripple, has won the Welsh long-distance swimming championship from a field of 44 rivals.

On the other hand, the manager of the Marion team welcomes Ewing's chance to bat against Ewing. They do not want Akron to start a left-handed pitcher. They think that they have a chance of opportunity to solve his southpaw slants in the seventeen innings that they played against him last Sunday and that he will be easy for them next time.

Stanford has only four conference contests on the book but the Cardinal tangles with U. S. C., Washington and California, three outfits that are out for Standford's scalp. Oregon is the fourth conference contest for the Cardinals.

Pop Warner's team meets Washington and California on successive Saturdays and both elevens will make the Cardinal run.

California, with the weakest eleven in several seasons perhaps, has the most difficult schedule. The Bears have five conference games, four of which come in a row. Coach "Nibs" Price must face U. S. C., both Oregon teams, Washington and Stanford. The O. A. C. eleven will be a contender so one can see that the road ahead is a rough one for the Bears.

Then too, California meets St. Mary's and the Olympic Club. It might be noted that California is the only conference school taking on St. Mary's this year. The Saints are always strong and U. S. C. after two years dropped them from their program while Stanford has not met them since 1921.

Washington, the 1925 champion, has a good layout. The Huskies tangle with the University of Oregon, Washington State, Idaho, California and U. S. C. program when it comes to difficulties.

Washington and U. S. C. will also meet eastern elevens on the coast to close their seasons. The northern team plays host to the University of Nebraska on November 25 and the Trojans meet Notre Dame in Los Angeles, December 4.

Did Bill Wrigley Toss National Pennant Away Before McCarthy Came?

If the Chicago Cubs fall a bit short of the pennant this season after their remarkable fight under Joe McCarthy it can be said truthfully that owner William Wrigley let the pennant slip out of his hands before McCarthy was given the job of boss.

BOB O'FARRELL

For the simple reason that three men who are playing a vital part in the success of the St. Louis Cardinals—and giving the opposition strength which the Cubs might have had, are Grover Alexander, Bill Killefer and Bob O'Farrell.

Now wait a minute. I know that Alexander was released by McCarthy himself a month or so ago for failure to keep in condition and observe training rules. But it would seem now that Wrigley spelled Alexander's undoing and broke up a great battery combination when O'Farrell was sent to St. Louis last May. And he further weakened Alex's worth when he canned Bill Killefer as manager and saw him do the only thing possible, step wide away to give the new pilot free rein.

Killefer and Alexander were sold as a battery to the Cubs by the Phillies in December, 1917, for $55,000 in mint beverage and three players.

Now glance at Alexander's record with the Cubs, with Killefer to guide his foosteps.

Year	Won	Lost
1918	2	1
1919	16	11
1920	27	14
1921	15	13
1922	16	13
1923	22	12
1924	12	5
1925	15	11
Total	125	80

Of course the season of 1918 found him devoting most of his time to the war. But counting the two games won and one lost (a winning average if you will) for that year Alexander had won 125 and lost but 80 games for the Cubs—a good winning percentage through all manners of trials and vicissitudes.

GROVER ALEXANDER

BILL KILLIFER

Not only that but his pitching was consistent. He hung up a winning average every year.

The season of 1925 found him winning 15 and losing 11—while the team changed managers every time the almanac called for a change in the moon.

In the middle of the 1925 campaign, however, Killefer laid down the reins and later moved to the St. Louis Cardinals. Alexander fell from grace in a hurry. What are we to believe but that either Killefer was the guiding genius or at least his absence lifted a check on Alexander or caused that old war horse to lose his grip.

Taught O'Farrell the Same

Now while Killefer served with the Cubs he helped teach Bob O'Farrel the fine points of catching. It so happened that the latter joined the Cubs green from the minors the year Alex and Bill moved over from Philadelphia. Killefer caught 103 games in 1919 and then little by little turned the job over to Bob the rookie.

Cub scouts, later on, dug up Dowdy Hartnett to aid O'Farrell. Little by little the latter, a heavy hitter and a heady player, gained favor with the Cub bosses. And when they canned about last season for an infielder they used O'Farrell for trading material—sent him to the Cardinals for Mike Gonzales and Barney Freigan, third baseman.

O'Farrell is today doing the bulk of the catching for the Cardinals—under the skilful guidance of Killefer, the Crafty. And wise old Bill is directing the affairs of Alexander once more, the while O'Farrell catches the ace.

It was inevitable that Killefer should depart from the ranks of the Cubs when his tenure of office was done. But the touch Killefer has instilled in the cardinal pitching staff, his ability to handle Alexander and his all around work as chief aid to Hornsby would indicate that the Cubs bosses either interfered with Bill's style at Chicago or misjudged him—a boner in either case.

And the failure of someone on the Cub team to keep Alexander in line would indicate a weakness there.

Give Hornsby due credit for his valiant effort as player and pilot to give the Cardinals a flag. Award Jim Bottomley, Bill Sherdel, Young Flint Rhem and the others the credit due them. But if the Cards cop the bunting after laboring since 1876 to turn the trick these Cub discards must come in for a large gob of glory.

Whether or not Bill Wrigley and Joe McCarthy like it.

You can teach an old dog new tricks!

I WAS already a veteran pipe-smoker when I ran across Prince Albert. It happened one day in the smoking-car. I reached for my tobacco and found I was "out." A good samaritan sitting across the aisle held out a friendly looking red tin.

I accepted the offer. That was a great moment in my life, as it turned out. Why, that very first taste won me. It was cool, like a breeze through an open window. It was sweet as a ripe peach. It was fragrant, even in that smoke-filled car. I was having the time of my life.

The mildness of Prince Albert appealed to me too. Yet there was plenty of body to it. I knew I was smoking. And I knew I was enjoying it more than any other tobacco I had ever tried. That settled me. I bought some P. A. when the train pulled in.

That was several years ago. I've been a P. A. regular ever since. Maybe you need a similar experience to put you next to the grandest tobacco that ever lined a pipe-bowl. My suggestion is: don't wait! Get yourself a tidy red tin of Prince Albert today!

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half-pound tin humidors, and pound crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.

SAYS HIS IRON WORKS NEVER TO AID WAR AGAIN

Baron George Krupp, 20, Makes Declaration While on Visit in U. S.

Denver, Sept. 21.—"War is foolish and destructive. If the same energy were turned towards the arts of peace and industry this world could be made a very fine place for all manner of people, and there would be no such thing as poverty. You can assure the world that the Krupp Steel works will never again be used in the service of the God of War."

This was the declaration here of Baron George Krupp, 20-year-old scion of the famous Krupps of Essen, Germany.

Young Krupp, whose full name is Baron George Friederich Euler Leopold Krupp von Bhlolen, heir to the Krupp millions, spent several days in the Rocky Mountain region recently. He has travelled through the west in a Ford automobile a personal present from the Detroit auto king.

Young Krupp is a junior at Harvard, and is accompanied on the trip by Charles Taetsch, son of an aristocratic German family, who is a fellow student of the embryo "iron master."

"My father and mother are going to make a tour of American in September, with Henry Ford and a party of friends," said Krupp, "and I expect to be with them. I am just going over the route they plan to cover."

"I love America very much," continued the lad, "particularly the west."

In reply to questions, he said he was the only child and sole heir of the Krupps von Bhlolen family, who were given permission by former Kaiser Wilhelm to link their names into one when they were married. In all probability, he said, he would inherit command of the huge Essen steel works.

Varicose Veins Reduced or Money Back, Says Henney & Cooper

Simple Home Treatment That Is Giving Amazing Results

The world progresses. Today ailments that took weeks to cure can now be ended in a few days. If you have varicose veins or bunches you can start today to bring them back to normal size, and if you are wise you will do so.

Just get an original bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil at any dispensing pharmacist and apply it night and morning as directed to the enlarged veins. It is very powerful and penetrating, and only a little is required.

After a few days' treatment the veins will begin to grow smaller and by regular use will soon reduce to normal.

People who want to reduce varicose veins, or get rid of running sores, ulcers, or piles in a few days should not hesitate to get a bottle at once. It is so powerful that a small bottle lasts a long time. Any pharmacy can supply you. Henney & Cooper sells lots of it. —Adv.

"THE BIG PARADE"

A MOTION PICTURE REVIEW

"THE BIG PARADE"—men and guns, men and guns, men, men, men! To the front, the front, on to the front.

"The Big Parade"—another unending line of muddied, grumbling, shaking ambulances carrying broken men—broken by guns and men, guns and men.

"The Big Parade" has turned the pages and brought back nine years ago. Brought back dormant patriotism, cheering, lonesomeness, misery, soreness of body and soul, injury and death—and, more than that, the wonderment of what-was-it-all-about?

"The Big Parade," the first of several big pictures to be offered in Marion during the year, was presented at the Grand Theater last night before an audience that laughed with it, sobbed with it and lived with it. The picture will be repeated this afternoon and tonight and again Wednesday afternoon and night.

THERE are pictures and pictures. So many of them that one wonders where they all come from and why they come at all. But, here is a picture, this "The Big Parade", that is one in a thousand. Here is a picture that lives, not a maudlin, sentimental thing about the glorious war, but a drama that stirs you with all the horror, the hell and the fury of the grinding, killing machinery of war.

"The Big Parade" was born out of the war. Laurence Stallings, until recently the literary critic of The New York World, saw service "overseas." Then, he returned and after the world had settled down to peaceful pursuits wrote the story of this picture.

THE story tells—

Declaration of war . . . Enlistments. . . . Three young men . . . One a jovial, irresponsible son of a captain of industry . . . Another a Bowery bartender . . . . The third a gangling steel riveter who looks upon war just as he does upon his job of driving rivets in the frame work of a steel skyscraper . . . Buddies. . . . Who live and tire and sweat and swear through their great adventure . . . And, advance into the hell of war . . . And, live with death . . . And, there's the romance of one . . . With a French girl . . . Their love . . . And, their parting . . . And, to the end . . . Happiness. . . But life at a new angle.

JOHN Gilbert is Jim Apperson, the rich youth, the idler who enlists, meets life and death, and finds a French sweetheart. Here is John Gilbert as you have not seen him. Renee Adoree is Melisande, the delightful little French girl. Tom O'Brien is "Bull," the ex-bartender and later ousted corporal, while Karl Dane brings to the screen a new and great character actor as "Slim," the lank, tobacco chewing and tobacco spitting doughboy.

The musical and mechanical effects accompanying "The Big Parade" go a great way toward making the picture as great a success as it is. The orchestra has 18 pieces, while a large crew of workmen backstage handles the equipment.

Here is one picture that the theatergoers are urged to see if they want the best, the finest, and cleanest in motion pictures.

U. S. FLIERS WATCHING NEW BRITISH AIRPLANE

Experiments at Hamble Aerodrome of "Autogiro" Eyed with Interest

Washington, Sept. 21 — American aviation once the leader of the world in the art of flying, is now watching with keen interest a series of experiments at Hamble Aerodrome, England, with an "autogiro" airplane, according to an announcement of the Department of Commerce.

While aviation has progressed by leaps and bounds since the Wright brothers flew their first plane into the Potomac river, within sight of Washington Monument, the department pointed out, all aerial authorities have dreamed of the perfect plane—one that will rise vertically and land literally on top of a postage stamp. The English "autogiro" is an experiment along this line.

The English air ministry conducted the Hamble experiments, which were only partly successful.

"The autogiro" is said to be similar to the ordinary airplane," the department explained, "except that most of the wings have been replaced by a windmill canopy located over the pilot. When the machine is in flight the canopy device revolves at a speed of approximately 135 revolutions a minute. It is said that the machine can come steadily to earth at an angle of 45 degrees or more, then flatten out and stop within a few yards of the point where it touches the ground.

"The machine, tested at the Hamble Aerodrome, was built to the order of the British Air Ministry, for whom four others are in course of construction. It is hoped in England that similar planes may be built and operated for commercial use."

MINNESOTA CITY STARTS CLEANUP OF BOOTLEGGERS

Austin, Minn., Aug. 00—A clean up of bootleggers was started here by city and county authorities. Hot weather has brought a recurrence of booze vending and every corner of the county is being searched.

Along the Iowa line a quick change still is used. When the officers arrive the still is across the state line. Later it is brought to its regular owner on the Minnesota side.

DANCING SALARIES SLICED BY RULER

Bombay, Sept. 21—The professional dancing girls of the entourage of the Maharana of Zalwar have threatened to strike unless the Maharana withdraws his order of compulsory attendance for dances at the Durbar held every Wednesday.

Zalwar makes an allowance from the state treasury to every dancing girl in the capital city of Ajmere, and whenever they are called for a special occasion an additional honorarium is paid. The new ruler, inclined to be a little more economical than his predecessors, recently issued an order doing away with the custom of paying additional honorariums and insisting on the personal attendance of the girls every week.

In reply to the strike ultimatum the Maharan has retaliated by issuing another order to the effect that any absence from the weekly Durbar will be looked upon as dereliction of duty and that salaries would be cut down accordingly.

20,000 ITALIAN FAMILIES HAVE OVER 10 CHILDREN

Rome, Sept. 21—There are 20,000 Italian families with over ten children, according to statistics compiled by order of Premier Mussolini.

The province of Trevisio possesses the greatest number of such families with 1,032. Milan comes next with 880, Padua 788, Cudine 785, Bari, 780, Naples 677, Venice 668 Florence 602, Lecco 600, Bergano 570, and Rome 517.

Special Offer To Victims of Chronic Indigestion

Bradley's Drug Store Says Pleasant to Take, Elixir Must Help Poor Distressed Stomachs or Money Gladly Refunded.

You can be so distressed with gas and fullness that you think your heart is going to stop beating.

Your stomach may be so distended that your breathing is short and gasps.

You are dizzy and pray for quick relief—what's to be done.

Just one tablespoonful of Dare's Mentha Pepsin and in ten minutes the gas disappears, the pressing on the heart ceases and you can breathe deep and naturally.

Oh! What blessed relief; but why not get rid of such attacks altogether? Why have chronic indigestion at all?

Especially when Bradley's Drug Store or any druggist anywhere guarantees Dare's Mentha Pepsin, a pleasant elixir, to end indigestion, acute or chronic, or money back.—Adv.

My aunt looked over her shoulder at her and

She was saying things all the time about people that varnished floors

she was almost foaming at the mouth, and she creamed, "Make them dam fool men go to bed!"

So I had to go upstairs/and my father and uncle and grandfather had to sneak off, and they were laughing. She must of go loose, for she was not there this morning. I told all the fellas and girls about it at school. That was the first time I ever heard a lady swear. Nothing happened today.

Daily Bedtime Story

BY HOWARD GARIS

Uncle Wiggily and His Friends

Bobbie Ringtail was lost. There was no doubt about it: he could not be found anywhere. Upstairs, downstairs and in the lady's chamber, Bobbie Ringtail was looked for, but it was of no use.

"Where is my brother? Oh, where is my brother?" called Bettie Ringtail, slapping her little black paws together.

"What's that? You didn't know little Bobbie Ringtail? Oh, I forgot to tell you. Bobbie Ringtail was a little baby raccoon—and he had a ring far on his tail which is the reason he had such an odd name. And, of course, Sister Bettie, being also a raccoon, had rings on her tail. And she had little black paws, almost like hands on a baby.

"But where is Bobbie?" asked Bettie again and again.

"I don't know, my dear," answered her mother. "We must look for him. Your father is searching and we must do the same."

Over the fields and through the woods went Mrs. Ringtail and her little girl Bettie, looking for the lost Bobbie. They looked in holow trees, under fallen logs and even in holes of the earth. In one hole they found Jackie and Peetie Bow Wow, playing Indians.

"No, we haven't seen Bobbie," barked the little puppy dogs. "But if we do we'll send him home," whined Peetie.

Bettie and her mother traveled farther and farther and pretty soon they met Uncle Wiggily Longears, the rabbit.

"Are you coming adventuring with me?" asked the bunny gentleman.

"We are not adventuring, we are looking for Bobbie," sadly explained Mrs Ringtail.

"Please, Uncle Wiggily, will you help us find my little lost brother?" begged Bettie.

"Of course I will!" said Mr. Longears. "Here now, to make it quicker you go one way and I'll go the other way, Mrs. Ringtail. And we shall see who will be the first to find Bobbie."

So Uncle Wiggily hopped over the fields and through the woods as fast as he could hop, calling, now and then, the lost coon boy's name. But Bobbie did not answer. Uncle Wiggily looked in hollow trees and under fallen logs and in holes of the ground, but it was of no use. In one hole he found Jollie and Jillie Longtail, the mice children, but when Mr. Longears asked them about the lost raccoon Jillie squeaked: "No, we haven't seen Bobbie!"

"But if we do we'll send him home!" whispered Jollie. The mice children were very quiet.

"How did Bobbie come to get lost?" asked Jillie.

"His mother told me he went to the brook to wash a piece of fish before he ate it, and he never came back," said Uncle Wiggily. Raccoons you know, are very clean animals. They wash all their food before they eat it, except ears of sweet corn.

So Uncle Wiggily hopped on farther and then, all of a sudden, he heard a voice calling:

"Bob! Bob! Bob!"

"Ha! There is some one else hunting the lost Bobbie," thought the rabbit gentleman. But the voice went on calling: "Bob—Bob White!"

"Oh, it's the quail bird!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily. "He has a whistling call that sounds exactly like 'Bob White.' I know what I'll do. I'll get the quail bird to whistle his call of 'Bob! Bob! Bob!" without the 'White' part. The quail can fly around much faster than I can hop, and he can go much farther."

"I'll be very glad to help you find lost Bobbie," whistled the quail bird, when Uncle Wiggily spoke to him. So he flew around calling: "Bob! Bob! Bobbie!" And in a little while a voice answered:

"Here I am! Who wants me? What's the matter?" and the quail saw Bobbie Ringtail asleep under a pile of leaves not far from the little raccoon boy's hollow tree home. "Oh—ugh—um!" grunted Bobbie as he stretched out his paws.

"Come home at once! You're lost!" whistled the quail.

"No, I wasn't lost!" chattered Bobbie. "I washed by fish and ate it and then I felt sleepy so I curled up in the leaves and I've been there ever since!" And so he had. Home he ran and his mother and sister were glad Bobbie was found, even if he really wasn't lost. They thanked the quail bird and Uncle Wiggily, and the quail flew away whistling: "Bob! Bob! White!" And if the buttonhook will pull the cork out of the molasses when it falls in, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's sweet flag.

To thoroughly enjoy the pursuit of happiness, one should intersperse the pursuit with spells of rest.

RECOVERIES RECORDED AMONG WEAKER STOCKS

Rally of Steel, Motor and Sugar Leaders Causes Widespread Buoyancy

W. S. COUSINS

New York, Sept. 21—A rally in the industrial stock leaders in the steel, motor and sugar groups turned the tide of a reactionary stock market today, and good recoveries were then recorded in a number of stocks which have displayed marked weakness in the last few sessions.

Bearish traders flooded the market with selling orders in the forenoon, principally on the evidence submitted of a further strain on the money market, caused by a $57,000,000 expansion in brokers' loans.

It was apparent, however, that the market had become oversold, that the short side was somewhat crowded and that bullish factors in some of the market leaders were not willing to stand by and permit their stocks to be pounded down to much lower price levels.

The week or two after Labor Day has always produced a temporarily tightened situation in the money market, due to the huge governmental and corporation financing and the consequent dislocation of funds. Eventually these funds find their way back to the banks. And money flows more freely and at lower interest rates int othe short term money market and the call loan market. Under the circumstances, the 5½ per cent call rate today was not unusually high, though bearish traders raised again the question of a probable advance in the re-discount rates this week or next.

Selling orders in Hudson Motors, Warner Pictures and other specialty stocks which have displayed conspicuous weakness of late, were poured into the market. Warner Brothers broke nearly 5 points to 45 1-2, but inside buying restored the quotation to around 48 3-4, where a large volume of sales was recorded.

Hudson declined further to 50 1-2, where it met support and rallied to above 52.

United States Steel was a conspicuous strong spot in the industrial group. Finding it impossible to cause a further break in this stock, the professionals covered up their shorts and steel common advanced in short order to 145 1-2.

General Motors was strong and buoyant throughout, as also were the sugar stocks, including American Sugar and the Cuban Sugar issues.

Today in Marion Markets

Groceries, Produce, Meats, Grain, Livestock

Hubbard squashes owing to the variety in size sold by the pound in most of the Marion produce markets, today. The prices set on the displays was three cents a pound. All sizes of the squashes were available.

Yellow summer squashes sold at 15 cents each in some of the houses.

Watermelons were still gracing the fruit counters yet today. Prices on the articles ranged from 40 to 60 cents each. Honeydew melons were steady selling at nearly all quotations up to 60 cents each.

Cantaloupes sold at prices as low as 15 cents each for the highest grade Tip Top and other varieties. Some grades were selling below the average finding places at five and 10 cents each.

Potatoes failed to fall in price in accordance with the predictions of the market experts at Cleveland, last week. At that time it was announced that potatoes would drop to quotations as low as 75 cents a bushel. Today in Marion Markets the potatoes sold 15 cents below that mark for the peck allotments. On the bushel $2 was the lowest found.

Sweet potatoes were available at five cents a pound, a slight decrease from the price asked last week, three and four pounds for 25 cents.

Mangoes sold at the usual price of three and four for 10 cents. The smaller mangoes sold at four for 10 cents.

A poet writes his verses because he loves to write and it makes him happy. Afterward, he may take money for them and be thankful if anyone will be so kind.

Much of the attempted romancing under a subtropical moon is utterly spoiled by the mosquitoes.

Average man will concede that all human things can be expected to have faults except the street cars. He's unreasonable about them.

SEES 800 COMMERCIAL PLANES IN SIX MONTHS

Development of Plants and Routes Addition to American Defense, Claim

Washington, Sept. 21—A prediction that 800 commercial airplanes will be in service within six months was made by Secretary of Commerce Hoover today.

The plants to produce this equipment, the development of air routes and of personnel, will be a valuable addition to America's defense, he said.

"There is far more interest in civil aeronautics than I ever anticipated. In the Pacific Coast and Rocky Mountain states there will be unusual development owing to the great time-saving possible through air transportation."

Hoover asserted that air transportation will offer virtually no competition to the railroads owing to the small tonnage of freight and express that will be handled by air. Mail, jewelry and other expensive articles will be shipped largely by air owing to greater safety, in Hoover's opinion.

After a conference with President Coolidge, P. W. Litchfield, president of the Goodrich Tire & Rubber Co., said that the hope of commercial aviation in the future lies in development of dirigibles which are capable of regular transoceanic flights.

GOODYEAR TIRE STARTS ACTION AGAINST FIRESTONE

Akron, Sept. 21—The Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. has begun action in Washington against the Firestone Tire and Rubber Co., alleging infringement on patents for making "all weather tread" used on solid and cushion tires. Other suits, involving large sums, are to be filed against other companies alleged to have used the patent, it has been learned here.

CHUTE FAILS TO OPEN

Mitchell Field, N. Y., Sept. 21—Private Charles C. Turner, Auburn, N. Y., was killed today when his parachute failed to open after a practice jump from an airplane flying 1,500 feet up.

MORE THAN SCORE HURT WHEN TRAIN IS DERAILED

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 21—More than a score of persons were slightly injured and a woman whose name was not learned was seriously injured when a Baltimore & Ohio passenger train was derailed at Orlando, W. Va., today, according to word received at the railroad's offices here today.

The train was bound for Grafton from Charleston.

JUDGE DENIES MOTION FILED IN ALLERR CASE

Action To Quash Indictment of Road Contractor Fails Before Bucyrus Jurist

Judge J. W. Wright of Bucyrus yesterday overruled the motion to quash the indictment against L. L. Aller of LaRue, Marion County contractor charged with fraud in connection with a public work.

Judge Wright also ordered that the name of "Lewis L. Aller" carried in the indictment be changed to "Llewellyn L. Aller" as asked for in the motion and plea of abatement filed by Attorney William P. Moloney, representing Aller.

Aller is charged with removing cement from sacks of the material to be used on the construction of concrete curbs along the Marion-Delaware road. He has the contract for the construction of the road from Waldo south to the county line. As a sub-contractor of Anstine & Carey of Kenton, Aller was also constructing the curbs along the northern portion of the highway.

Not date for arraignment or hearing has been set by Judge Wright.

JACK DEMPSEY FILES ANSWER TO COURT SUIT

Says Kearns Is Ex-Convict and That He Appropriated Champion's Funds

BULLETIN

Philadelphia, Sept. 21—The application for a writ restraining Tex Rickard from paying any portion of the purse to either of the participants in the Dempsey-Tunney heavyweight championship boxing bout here the night of Sept. 23 was dismissed this afternoon upon the agreement of counsel for the plaintiff.

* * *

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 21—Jack Dempsey, through Richard Mackay, his attorney, today filed his answer in Chancery Court to the suit brought against the champion by his former manager, Jack Kearns.

In his answer, Dempsey charges Kearns with appropriating $500,000 of the champion's money. He also charges that Kearns is an ex-convict, having served a term in a penitentiary in the state of Washington.

Kearns, on Saturday, filed an action which resulted in Dempsey being declared a temporary bankrupt. Kearns had demanded an accounting from Dempsey of all moneys that the champion had received from Aug. 3, 1923, to Aug. 3, 1926, the period covered by the Dempsey-Kearns contract.

RICKARD LAUNCHES COUNTER-OFFENSIVE

Philadelphia, Sept. 21—Tex Rickard was prepared to deliver a legal solar plexus blow today when the promoter of the Dempsey-Tunney heavyweight championship bout will appear in Common Pleas Court and stage a counter-offensive against efforts to prevent the boxers from performing Thursday night through means of attachments and injunctions.

Announcement that Rickard was prepared to spring a "surprise" in the taxpayers suit brought by an employe in the law office of John R. Scott, was made after the promoter conferred with his attorneys. It was said that Rickard supplied the lawyers with documentary evidence that will serve as a "knock-out" to the efforts being made to enjoin the payment of any money to either contestant before the fight takes place.

BULGARIA PASSES LAW TO HELP AMERICAN SCHOOLS

Sofia, Sept. 21—The Bulgarian National Assembly has passed a Bill granting to American colleges in Bulgaria, three-thousand cubic metres of lumber for rebuilding purposes.

Answering a protest made by a deputy that the government helps alien schools and not Bulgarian institutions Premier Lyaptcheff said:

"I do not care whether they be alien or not. What I do know is that they are good Anglo-Saxon institutions and are helping our best citizens."

WORLD SHIPPING GROWS, LLOYDS' STATISTICS SHOW

London, Sept. 21—The merchant shipping of the world has increased by 17,268,000 tons gross since June, 1914, according to the 1926-27 edition of Lloyd's Register of Shipping published here.

Statistics for the past twelve months show that there has been an immense development in the use of steam turbine engines and of internal combustion engines, while the United States and Japan lead the world in motor ships.

Britain still leads the rest of the world with the greatest merchant tonnage, with the United States following a close second.

FIND JOB RESCUING FISH IN LANDLOCKED WATERS

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 21—Fish rescue work over the nation will be unusually heavy this year, is the belief of William J. Stratton, director of the Illinois Board of Conservation.

Heavy floods have landlocked countless fish, and in Illinois, he said, more than 100 men will be assigned to the task of replacing "lost" members of the finny tribe in their home waters, by truck and seine.

A state-wide survey is under way to determine the extent of the work needed, along the Illinois, Mississippi, Sangamon and Kaskaskia rivers.

A man who has fifty suits of clothes can afford to hire a man to take care of them; one with ten suits has to suffer the annoyance of them.

OHIO DAIRY CATTLE MAKE RECORDS IN PRODUCTION

One of Every Four in Recording Herds Win Place on Honor Roll

One of every four cows in Ohio's 619 recording herds is on the honor roll for profitable production of butterfat during June.

Cows producing 40 pounds or more butterfat or over 1,200 pounds of milk, explains C. L. Blackman of the agricultural extension service at the Ohio State University, earn their place on the honor roll of profitable production for the month. Last month 1,518 cows passed the 40-pound butterfat goal and 786 the milk standard or 1,200 pounds. Forty pounds of butterfat will make approximately 50 pounds of butter, and 1,200 pounds of milk are equal to almost 600 quarts of fluid milk.

Fergus & Williamson of Trumbull County own the high producing cow for the month. She, a Holstein, produced 2,901 pounds of milk or about 1,400 quarts. The average Ohio cow that is just a "cow" with no cost of production record produces about 2,500 quarts of milk a year. The cows making the second and third high record in pounds of milk produced during the month are owned by McCartney & Stidd of Belmont County and Clifford Hoover of Summit County. They produced, respectively, 2,649 and 2,595 pounds of milk.

The state butterfat record of June of 96.7 pounds was made by a Holstein owned by A. V. Case of Trumbull County. E. L. Foster of Perry County and W. N. Williams of Wood County are tied for second place. Their cows each produced 86.1 pounds of butterfat for the month.

A summary record shows that the Belmont County Barnesville association leads the state in butterfat production with an average of 353.5 pounds of fat per cow for five months. The Trumbull County association leads in total milk produced per cow for the five months. The average is 8,575 pounds per cow.

One of the best things about culture is that it can be simulated—and it does so improve the conversation.
